Youth is typically in motion.
Whether in the gymnasium or clinic or library or dormitory, the student's mind and body are seldom at rest.
To still the activity of the youth of Loyola is a most difficult task, one which we would not have attempted except to preserve some of the vigor and effervescence found in the student body.
We hope that in this still life,
the 1962 Loyolan, we have succeeded.

About the time the invigorating briskness of Fall permeates the Chicago climate, one often sees dazed and wandering freshmen crossing the Chicago college campuses. Not at Loyola, however, for as an aid to the Loyola Freshman, who is entering a foreign world, Loyola has an Orientation Week before the school year begins. During this week he is given an opportunity to become acquainted with the campus, its facilities, and its organizations.

Talks by the various deans of the University and other officials give him an idea of what to expect during his years at Loyola. Organization leaders, too, play an important part in this week of transition, for their welcomes introduce him to the academic, political, and social worlds that are Loyola.

MENS SANA

IN CORPORE SANO

Loyola's Greek Week this year included panel discussions on fraternity problems, a convocation, and the traditional Greek games. The events were sponsored by the Interfraternity Council.

A leadership conference, headed by Joe Scully of Tau Kappa Epsilon, explored such problems as fraternity finances, rushing, alumni relations, and scholarship, through panels composed of fraternity members. The notes of these meetings were recorded and made available to each fraternity.

The annual Greek Week Dance, this year held in the King Arthur Room of the Sheraton-Chicago Hotel, added a bit of glitter to a hard day of committee discussions. The dance was open to all fraternity members.

On Sunday afternoon, October 8, the Greek Games took place on Lake Shore's athletic field. Tau Kappa Epsilon won the mock chariot race, while Alpha Delta Gamma took the Olympic championship. An award convocation was held in the Student Union after the games.

The all-over effect of the activities promoted unity among the fraternities and introduced prospective pledges to fraternity life. The spirit of cooperation which prevailed at the leadership committees strengthened the position of the Interfraternity Council as a unifying force and clarified the role of fraternities in Loyola life.

FOUNDERS' DAY

Loyola commemorated its ninety-first anniversary this year with the third annual Founders' Day celebration. The program consisted of two convocations and the exclusive President's Ball, all held on the last day of October.

The Honorable Marguerite Stitt Church highlighted the morning convocation with an address pointing out the student's role in world affairs. Immediately afterward, Alumni Association Citations were awarded to seven former Loyolans, including entertainer Bob Newhart.

The afternoon convocation, held by the Student Presidents Committee, featured speeches by John J. Ward, Marylee Cullen, and Thaddeus Wyroski. Founders' Day student awards were given to one student from each Loyola college. Recipients were James F. Harris, Thomas C. Hynes, Earl C. Olsen, Richard E. Triska, M. Norton Flanagan, Peter R. Cunningham II, Robert L. Wall, Alice J. McHugh, Mary K. Bussert, and Anne E. Young.

The President's Ball was held in the Guildhall of the Ambassador West Hotel. Approximately six hundred couples attended the formal dance.

FALL FROLIC FEATERS' COURT

The Grandballroom of the Palmer House was the setting of the coronation of the 1961-62 Miss Loyola. Over one thousand attended to see Miss Barbara Ann Mirek crowned.

This year the Miss Loyola contest was revised. The second, third, and fourth place candidates now compose the queen's court. They were Diane Anstett, Mimi Duggan, and Noreen Raia. Miss Loyola and her Court were featured on a lovely float in this year's Pow-Wow float parade.

NEW WEEKEND VIBES RAMBLER SPIRIT

The 1961 Union Board sponsored Pow-Wow weekend was a grand success. It began Friday evening, December first, with a jazz concert held in the Mundelein Auditorium. Professional acts were featured such as the Second City Review, Ernestine Anderson, Dick Gregory, and Marks and Frigo. More than one thousand attended the show. After the concert the audience moved out to the athletic field for a bonfire and pep-rally.

Saturday's float parade consisted of nineteen competitive floats and also a float for Miss Loyola and her court. After the parade there was a luncheon in the Campus Center which was followed by a pushball contest between the Freshmen and the Sophomores (the winners).

Saturday evening the Ramblers defeated Assumption of Canada in Loyola's first game of the season. The game was followed by a Victory Dance held in the Crystal Ballroom of the Edgewater Beach Hotel. Bobbie Mirek, Miss Loyola, presented the award for the best float to Tau Kappa Epsilon. The winners of the house decorations contest was Alpha Delta Gamma.

This year's Homecoming was exhausting for all participants, but proved to be the most exciting weekend of the year.

SKIERS GET ALL THE BREAKS

Some of the breaks received by the 1962 Loyola skiers were a broken leg by George Kallintzas, a torn ligament by Austin Rigney, and bruises from head to toe by Lenore Quinn. Yes, the Ski Week was very eventful. Besides getting injured, the Loyolans spent the week chalet-cramming, partying, sleigh-riding and even skiing.

SORORITIES UNITE FOR WEEK

The third annual Intersorority Greek Week took place during the week of February 12, 1962. The Chairman of the events was Helen Slattery of Kappa Beta Gamma.

The Greek Week was mainly a week of rushing, beginning with registration of freshmen interested in pledging a sorority.

Thursday night the Sorority girls serenaded the three fraternity houses and Sunday the week ended with a tea at the Saint Clair hotel.

FOR ANNUAL VARIETY SHOW

"Broadway Comes to College" was the theme of this year's Variety Show. The show, staged for the eleventh year, achieved its fullest University participation: two hundred and fifty students were involved in its production. The Arts Council produced the show; the Business Council handled the financial arrangements; and the Nursing Council was in charge of publicity.

For the first time in its short history, the Variety Show engaged a professional director, Mr. Rondolph Avery. Students who primarily assisted Mr. Avery in the production of the show were James Reilly, the producer, and Glen Phillips, the stage manager.

Having lustily damned the Yankees, Sigma Delta Phi solemnly dismisses them.

The theme of the show, "Broadway Comes to College," was carried out with many excerpts and a few parodies from such Broadway musicals as "Bye Bye Birdie," "The Boy Friend," and "Gypsy." The Friday night awards for the best group act and for the best individual performance went to Theta Phi Alpha's "Broadway Scrubwomen," and to violinist Ned Paulionis. The "scrubwomen" from Theta Phi Alpha went on Saturday night to make it a clean sweep by winning the Alumni Association's "Igggy" award for the best act in the whole show.

LOYOLA CULTURE SEEKERS OPEN NEW CENTER

Before commencing their semester's studies, Loyolans pay tribute to the tragedies of war at Rome's Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Ninety-two students and nine faculty members embarked for Europe last February to man the new Loyola Center in Rome. The group, under the direction of the Rev. John Felice, S.J., traveled by bus to New York where they boarded the Saturnia for Naples, Italy. There they were met by the Italian Minister of Education.

The Center is located only forty-five minutes from Vatican City, and near such attractions as the Forum, St. Peter's and the Pantheon. Loyola is the first American University to have such a center.

The students were integrated with representatives from thirteen other American colleges and universities for a semester lasting until June. Carrying a maximum of fifteen credit hours, ample time is left for sight-seeing and travel.

N.I.T. TOPS SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Spring of 1962 brought with it a reincarnation of the renowned Loyola Fair. Absent were the ferris wheel, tilt-a-whirl, and casino which characterized the fairs of previous years. This void was filled by an international atmosphere—the theme of this year's fair. Organizations constructed booths in the Campus Center, each depicting a different country. Alumni Gymnasium was transformed into a nite club, complete with amateur and professional acts, dancing, and a strolling violinist. The weekend was completed by a dance Saturday night, and the concert highlighted by the Brothers Four, Phyllis Diller, and Peter Nero on Sunday.

The year's social highlight was the annual Military Ball, at which Miss Nancy Ann Holm was chosen Queen for 1962. Cadets displayed their drill prowess at the Federal Inspection and Presidential Review, held at end of the year. The Girls' Rifle Team, formed last year, increased its membership and began to distinguish itself in inter-collegiate meets.

Sixty-four Loyolans embarked on a three-month trip last June to twelve European countries. Included were visits to England, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Belgium, Holland, Scotland, France, and Italy, where they had an audience with His Holiness Pope John XXIII.

Although primarily a pleasure trip, many students earned academic credits by combining study with their travel. A unique opportunity was given these vagabonds as they visited many of the leading universities on the continent. Courses in Medieval History and Comparative Education were taught to the travellers by Rev. John Kemp, S.J. and Dr. John Wozniak, respectively.

VERY REV. JAMES F. MAGUIRE, S.J.
President

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT

The twentieth president of Loyola University, the Very Reverend James F. Maguire, S.J., served as president of Xavier University, Cincinnati, and rector of West Baden College before assuming his position at Loyola in July, 1955. He also taught for a year, following his ordination, at the University of Detroit High School.

As part of his program to increase interest in the support of the University, Father Maguire has instituted the Businessmen of Loyola, the Board of Loy Trustees, Women's Board and the Citizens' Board. He also encouraged the creation of PAL and SAL as a means of attracting outstanding high school students to Loyola.

UNIVERSITY VICE PRESIDENTS

Thomas W. Hawkins has served as Treasurer and Comptroller of the Nochman Corporation; Assistant Comptroller of Esquire, Inc.; and Assistant Treasurer of the H. A. Brassert Company.

After holding the post of Business Manager at Loyola for five years, he was promoted to Vice-President in 1956.

THOMAS F. HAWKINS
Vice-President

REV. ROBERT W. MULLIGAN
Vice-President

Born on October 11, 1916, the Rev. Robert W. Mulligan, S.J., attended both Loyola Academy and Loyola University. After his ordination in 1937, he was assigned to the Philosophy department at Loyola. He became Vice-President and dean of faculties in 1958.

In his capacity as Vice-President for Development and Public Relations, W. Daniel Conroyd directs Loyola's fund-raising programs, public relations activities, and alumni affairs. He previously served as Administrative Assistant.

McEvoy, S.J., Rev. Franklin C. Fischer, S.J., Very Rev. James L. Maguire, S.J., Rev. Robert W. Mulligan, S.J.

BOARD OF JESUIT TRUSTEES

The Jesuit Fathers who make up the Board of Trustees are the actual governing body of the school. Under the chairmanship of the University President, the very Reverend James F. Maguire, S.J., they make the policy decisions which guide the University's destinies.

Some of its specific duties include the drawing up of contracts and formation of affiliation agreements, the determination of general university policies, and the appointment of officers for the school.

In its capacity as the school's governing body, the board of trustees also has the power to confer certificates, honors, and academic degrees.

Administrative Council. Standing: Harry L. McCloskey, W. Daniel Conroy, Rev. Hugh B. Rodman, S.J., John C. Fitzgerald, Matthew H. Schoenbaum, James C. Cox, Rev. Joseph S. Pendergast, S.J., J. Raymond Sheriff, John C. Hayes, Dr. William P. Schoen. Seated: Elizabeth A. McConn, Glodys Kiniery, Rev. Robert W. Mulligan, S.J., Very Rev. James F. Maguire, S.J., Rev. Stewart E. Dollord, S.J.

Loyola's Administrative Council is composed of the University's Vice-Presidents, Deans, and administrative personnel — such as the Librarian, the Registrar, and others — who represent all the varied functions of the administration. Its purpose is to advise the President on matters of administrative and academic policy.

Some of the specific functions of the body are to review curricula, insure integration of the various schools and colleges within the University, and set up admission procedures and the tuition structure. It also treats accreditation problems and supervises production of the University catalog.

ADMINISTRATIVE COUNCIL

BOARD OF LAY TRUSTEES

Charles C. Kerwin
Chairman

This group was organized to provide for the University President a means of obtaining expert and experienced professional advice. The members represent hundreds of years of business leadership in many of the nation's largest corporations.

Specifically, the board advises the President on matters relating to education, campus planning, public relations, development, and finance.

Charles C. Kerwin, a prominent Chicago investment executive and distinguished Catholic layman, chairs the group and oversees its efforts to provide Loyola with the best in professional know-how.

THE WOMEN'S BOARD

The Women's Board was formally welcomed into the intimate circle of friends of Loyola University this past year. Its members are recognized for their leadership in civic, cultural, and social activities. The purposes of the group, which meets four times a year, are to learn more about the objectives, the academic programs, the educational opportunities offered in the various schools of the University, and to acquaint its members with the educational and cultural contributions of Loyola to the city and the nation.

CITIZENS' BOARD

The Citizens' Board was established sixteen years ago to mark the 75th Anniversary of Loyola's service to Chicago. Since that time, the Board has enabled the University to increase its scope of service to the community. The Board consists of business and professional men who are in a position to acquaint Chicago with the distinctive character of Loyola's educational program. The background of information supplied by these men enables the University to become a powerful force in the shaping of Chicago's community life.

BUSINESSMEN FOR LOYOLA

The Businessmen for Loyola was established for the purpose of enlisting the support of Chicago's business and industry in promoting Loyola's educational program. Since 1955, contributions have totaled more than $1.7 million. This year's chairman, Thomas A. Dean, has expressed confidence that a goal of $425,000 will be realized; and consequently provide for continued expansion of faculties, and an increase in teachers' salaries. Businessmen for Loyola follows this policy of strengthening the faculty because it believes the basis of the University's contribution to the community is found in the promotion of its great teaching program.

ESTATE PLANNING COMMITTEE

Augustine J. Bawe

Andrew J. Dallstream

J. Francis Dammann

Cushman B. Bissell
Chairman

Estate Planning Executive Committee of Loyola University is no exception to the axiom that few things are accomplished in our complicated world without immediate and long range planning. With this in mind, the Estate Planning Executive Committee undertakes its task of not only planning for the future needs of educational growth and expansion, but also searching out means whereby the youth of generations to come will be assured of an education.

The Committee keeps the alumni and friends of Loyola aware of the needs of the University and how these needs can best be remedied, especially through bequests. The Committee has organized for the University several plans to offer for investment: wills, gifts for capital, revocable trusts, irrevocable trusts, and testimony trusts.

Of course, bequests may be unrestricted or restricted for some particular or special interest. They may be designated for buildings, research, professorships or other similar items.

OFFICE OF THE DEAN OF ADMISSIONS

The dual responsibility of the Office of the Dean of Admissions is evaluating the credentials of all prospective Loyolans, and recruiting the top high school students for the University. Throughout the year, high school interest days are co-sponsored by the Admissions Office and the various Departments of the University to acquaint high school students with Loyola. This is only one of the methods which Dean John C. Malloy, S. J. has employed in achieving the objectives of the Office.

Staff: John Hannan, Thomas Dyba, and Jaan Steinbrecher.

ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF

The University administrative staff is composed of men and women possessing a wide range of talents. They Define and carry out the aims of the University, guiding Loyola's bold and imaginative 40-year development program, obtaining financial support, supplying information to the public, overseeing registration, finding employment for students, purchasing supplies for the school, and solving the countless other problems which arise in the course of the school year.

OFFICE OF THE DEAN OF STUDENTS

It is through the Office of the Dean of Students that the policies of the Committee on Student Activities and Welfare are carried out. All student organizations, except religious, are regulated by the committee.

Dean Harry McCloskey, besides serving as chairman of this Committee, is the coordinator of the various programs of the Office of the Dean of Students which includes the Student Welfare program. Mariette Le Blanc, the Dean of Women, and Joan Vaccaro, the Assistant Dean of Women, supervise and coordinate the activities pertaining to all undergraduate women students. Aiding Dean McCloskey in executing the Office so effectively are the Assistant Dean of Students, Mr. George Kallintzas and the Assistant to the Dean, Mr. Walter Block.

PARENTS ASSOCIATES OF LOYOLA

Initiated in the late winter of 1957 by Father Maquire, the Parents Associates of Loyola has been an increasingly important aid to Loyola's growth. Consisting of a group of interested parents who each year expend a great deal of time and energy, the organization concentrates upon two annual drives, the Admissions Drive and the Fund Drive.

The first of these is an all-out effort to contact parents of high school students and encourage them to consider sending their sons and daughters to a Catholic university. Their efforts are not aimed merely at increasing Loyola's attendance, but at providing young men and women with opportunity for a good education.

The second semester is also a busy one for these unselfish parents. During that time they contact the parents of full-time undergraduate students, soliciting funds to offset the increasing financial burden placed upon the school. It is because of interested people like these that Loyola has continued to thrive.

The Students Associates of Loyola, organized in 1956, is one of the most important organizations in the University. In the past five years SAL has advanced from an organization composed of a few enthusiastic members to a group comprised of over 500 students representing a majority of the organizations on campus. In the past two years there has been a concerted effort to contact high school seniors and interest them in Loyola University.

As a result of the effort put in by these people there has been a 100% increase in those contacted in the past two years.

The Executive Board is composed of representatives of all organizations involved in the campaign and representatives from the Dorms.

Due to increased interest across the campus the Men's and Women's Residence Halls put their efforts into the program with the hoped for result that many more students from out of town have become interested in Loyola University.

student government

GEORGE N. KOLLINTZAS
Director

The Loyola Union functions with a dual purpose. It is to promote student unity in each school and college of the University, and to provide liaison between the University and the student body.

The Union Activities Board, the governing body, is composed of representatives of each of the schools and colleges and of various student organizations on campus.

Major activities for the entire student body are planned by the Union Board each year. The highlight of the program is Pow-Wow which signifies the opening of the basketball season and is homecoming weekend.

The Board took an important step in creating more effective communication between the student body and the administration by adopting the Student Opinion Commission this year.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Interfraternity Council is composed of representatives of each fraternity on campus, and serves as a coordinating body for promoting activities and solving common problems. Its most important duty is supervising both fraternity rushing and pledging.

The Council sponsored, for the second consecutive year, a most successful Greek Week which gave indications of becoming an annual event at Loyola. In this, as well as in all parts of their program, the Council works in close association with the Union and the administration of the school.

INTERSORORITY COUNCIL

The Intersorority Council was created to unite all undergraduate sororities in a spirit of friendship and good will with the hope of solving common problems. Each sorority has two representatives on the Council which acts as a supervisory and mediative board for all sorority members. It regulates rushing and pledging methods, besides ruling on sorority chapters seeking establishment at Loyola.

The Council sponsored, once again this year, a most successful Welcome Tea and Sorority Daze.

ARTS COUNCIL

According to its constitution, the purpose of the Arts Council is to initiate, organize, correlate, and support student activities. This body, representing more than 3,000 students in the College of Arts and Sciences, is composed of fourteen members. The President, Vice President, Secretary, and Treasurer are elected by the general student body. In addition to these four, the president and vice-president of each class and representatives chosen from the Schools of Nursing and Business Administration are also members of the Council.

This year's activities included participation in the Freshmen Orientation Program, the Student Directory, production aspects of the Variety Show, class programs and parties, the Beanie Bounce, the Arts Council Mixer, and the Basketball Trip to Ohio State University.

SCHOOL OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION COUNCIL

The School of Business Administration Council is the new name for the Commerce Council. The Council has served as a liaison between the Administration and the students of the College of Business Administration and, as such, has organized a series of programs and activities designed to fulfill this purpose.

The Council is composed of the officers of the four classes. The officers include the presidents of the four classes who become president, vice-president, treasurer, and secretary according to class priority.

Some of the programs and activities the Council sponsors are: freshman counseling, the School of Business Administration Council Mixer, the Sno-Ball Dance, the Honors Night Dinner Dance, part of the Student Directory, business areas of the Variety Show, class parties, and panel discussion programs. These activities allert to the aims of the Council to achieve its purposes.

The Nursing Councils with the formal titles of the Association of the Basic Students of the Loyola University School of Nursing and the Supplementary Nursing Council endeavor to encourage unity and cooperation among the members of the Association. They also help to promote the necessary qualities—mental, spiritual and professional—necessary for the nurse in today's society and to aid and encourage the development of skills in student government.

In helping to promote participation in University sponsored programs, the members supplement their basic training. Some of these activities include a mixer, a Nursing Council Valentine's Party, a Spring prom, and several charity projects.

MEDICAL SCHOOL COUNCIL

The Medical School Council of the Stritch School of Medicine consists of representatives from the student body, the individual classes, two fraternities, the Student American Medical Association, and St. Luke's Guild. It is moderated by Father John Bieri, S.J.

As a student governing body, the Council embodies four basic purposes: to establish unity between the administration and the student body; to encourage extra-curricular activities for the students; to act as liaison between the administration and the student body; and finally, to encourage and maintain the highest standards of the medical profession among the student body.

On St. Luke's Day, October 18, the Council sponsors its primary activity. Outstanding students and faculty members are honored at a dinner and convocation.

There are many activities sponsored by the Student Council of the School of Dentistry for the purpose of developing a broader cultural, social, and moral atmosphere and a closer unity among the members of the Dental School. This Council is composed of fourteen members, which include two representatives from each class and one representative from each of the fraternities.

The Council presides over all class elections, fraternity rushing and pledging, and all organized student activities. It sponsors the Winter Formal Dance, the Dental School Christmas Show held at the Loyola Community Theater, the Dental School News, and the Dental School Choir which appears in the annual all-University Variety Show. The choir also participated in the Annual Blessing of the Christmas Crib at Madonna della Strada Chapel.

STUDENT BAR ASSOCIATION

The Student Bar Association of the School of Law is composed of every member of this school. It is modeled after the American Bar Association. As such, it enables its members to acquire professional skills and to maintain the highest standards of the law profession.

The organizational aspects are carried on by a board of governors and a constitutionally prescribed committee. The officers are elected at the beginning of the school year, and the newly elected president appoints association members to the various committees. These are responsible for the professional and social activities provided for the members.

Student Bar Association. Standing: James Sammans, Graham Heikes, Michael Leyden, John Dentzer, Michael Nash, Donald Gavin, Joseph Marren. Seated: Kevin Forde, John Cannon, Theodore Wyroski, Shirley Mae Davis, Maurice McCarthy, Ronald Maksym.

The Student Council of the School of Social Work is composed of four members elected from each class. The members meet regularly concerning themselves with three spheres of activity: religious, professional, and social.

Besides an annual day of recollection, a yearly retreat is arranged by the Council for the student body and faculty.

The Council frequently invites speakers to address first year students on topics related to their course work. The wide range of social activities sponsored by the Council include preparations for orientation week and a party for June graduates.

SOCIAL WORK COUNCIL

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE COUNCIL

The evening school student through his attendance at University College automatically belongs to the Student Association of the University College of Loyola University. The University College Council is formed from this association. It seeks to activate the evening school student to partake in extra-curricular activities that will serve a two-fold purpose of interest to both the student and the University.

Realizing that the evening school campus differs significantly from any other campus on the University, the Council tries to maintain policies and activities that reflect the character of its constituency.

A social orientation program, the Dean's Coffee Hour, is sponsored by the Council at the beginning of each semester. Anyone who is interested is invited to the program at which the administrative program, and the privileges of the evening school student, as a student of Loyola, are explained.

The Council also assists Dean Richard A. Matre and his staff at the time of registration.

LOYOLA HALL COUNCIL

The governing body of Loyola Hall, the Loyola Men's Dorm Council, was established in 1957. The purpose of the Council is to guide the residents for their religious, social and academic welfare and to increase their enjoyment as residents and students of Loyola University.

In order to become as closely united with the University's functions as possible the Council actively participates in the popular "Ugly man" and "Miss Loyola" contests, besides giving extensive support to Pow-Wow and other activities.

Inside the dorm, the Council acts as a liaison between those various groups which service the dorm and at the same time serves as an opinion group for the Administration. The Council successfully waged a campaign to allow a dorm Council member to be seated on the Union Activities Board this past year.

The Council's programs range from a get-aquainted mixer and special supper during freshman week to honor freshman and varsity basketball teams at the close of the season.

But the Loyola Hall Council is not entirely involved in politics and social activities. A nightly rosary and Sunday benediction in the dorm chapel are held under the auspices of the Council.

WOMEN'S DORM COUNCILS

Representing students in the three university residence halls are the Delaware, Stebler, and "1043" Councils. "1043" is a recent, temporary addition, opening this past September.

Integrating their forces, all three work to enforce dormitory regulations and plan social activities for the year. They participate actively in the social activities of the University, including decorations for Pow-Wow and entrance of a candidate in the Miss Loyola contest. They also sponsor a party between semesters.

In the academic realm, the first semester average for all women residents was 2.7.

Stebler Hall Council. Standing: Carolyn Kahne, Martina Panazza, Gertrude Fitzpatrick, Sharon Silverwood. Seated: Mary Ann Lain, Nancy Markavich, Ellen Miller, Margaret Schultz, Annette Vigeant.

The Graduate School is a school of arts and sciences which was established in 1926. The objectives of the Graduate School are naturally the same as those of the University: to integrate scientific, literary, and cultural training with a sound philosophy of life based on Catholic principles of correct thinking and correct living. The secondary objective is to give highly specialized training in order to produce thinking and well-oriented scholars.

The Reverend Stewart E. Dollard, S. J., has served as Dean of the School for the past fifteen years. Dr. Paul Kiniery, assistant dean, was appointed in 1932.

The Master of Education degree and the Master of Arts degree in classics, English, history, mathematics, philosophy, psychology, sociology, and Spanish may be secured. The Master of Science degree may be obtained in anatomy, biochemistry, chemistry, microbiology, oral anatomy, pharmacology, and physiology. Doctoral programs are offered in most fields as well.

OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Under the direction of Rev. J. S. Pendergast, S. J., the Loyola University College of Arts and Sciences has maintained its purpose of developing its students through a broad Christian education forming them into the ideal stated by Pope Pius XI: "The true Christian product of Christian education is the supernatural man who thinks, judges, and acts constantly and consistently in accordance with right reason illumined by the supernatural light of Christ's example and teaching."

The Jesuit plan of education centers about the Liberal Arts College. The College in union with Christian ideals possesses the ability to develop the "whole man"—physically, spiritually, and socially.

Liberal Arts offers students training for a particular profession with knowledge beyond the interests of their field. It enables them to properly evaluate their own lives and to have the proper perspective in relation to their roles in our present culture.

In an effort to better serve the student body, the College has frequently expanded its staff and intensified its academic schedule.

An integral part of the University's aim of excellence in education is the H.P. which was established in 1936 to provide those students with the necessary ability and energy the opportunity for a more comprehensive course of studies. Although more comprehensive courses are required in all fields, the central purpose of the program is to provide a more intensive study of the student's major field. Additional courses in the major area are taken in junior and senior years. The newest addition to the program is a series of Honors Colloquies. These colloquies cover all the major fields, providing an opportunity for a wide exchange of ideas among the students in the program.

Gathered at the Old Cathay Restaurant for an Honors Program party are John Wanat, Marianne Parker, Susanne Strom, Mark Scott, Timothy Materer, Rev. Carl J. Burlage, S. J., and Stephen Gilmaur.

Kenneth Feit, Kathleen Richards, Eleanor Sigbarn, and Rev. John Kemp, S. J. consider the medieval era.

ARTS AND SCIENCES DEPARTMENT CHAIRMEN

Although the oldest of Loyola's schools, the College of Arts and Sciences is quite possibly its most dynamic and creative component. This was nowhere better demonstrated than in the many extra or introcurricular activities either initiated or revitalized this year.

WEST BADEN COLLEGE

Activities at the West Baden Springs resort area rather changed when, in 1934, it became the site of West Baden College for Jesuit seminarians. This college provides training, principally in Philosophy and Theology, for the Jesuits who will serve in the Chicago area. By virtue of being a Pontifical Institute, since 1945, the school is empowered to grant the degree of Licentiate in Philosophy—a degree enabling the recipient to teach in the Jesuit order. The college also grants the Licentiate and the Doctorate in Sacred Theology.

PRE-SEMINARY LATIN PROGRAM

The Pre-Seminary Latin Program was established to provide basic courses in Latin for those who wish to become candidates for the priesthood, but who have not had any previous training in the language. The course of study is somewhat of a "crash program" in which the student attends no other classes except those in Latin. The program lasts an entire semester in which five three hour credit courses are taken. These courses include the two elementary Latin courses plus work in Cicero, Virgil, and Latin syntax.

The School of Business Administration is a new name for an old and fine college of Loyola University—the College of Commerce. Renamed this year after 38 years, the new School of Business Administration is still headed by Dean J. Raymond Sheriff.

The past few years have witnessed rapid and significant changes in the world. With this in mind the college has fully analyzed these changes, and has revised and expanded its curriculum accordingly. Emphasis is placed on liberal studies in the first half of the program which is followed by intensive training in the basic principles of business. Specialization is held to a minimum so as not to destroy the breadth of this type of education.

University College is a separate and unique undergraduate college, yet a vital part of Loyola. It has attained the largest enrollment of any college in the university, serving, primarily, those who work during the day and must limit their educational pursuits to part-time attendance at night. It also affords the opportunity to advance the cultural and intellectual interests of those who wish to satisfy their own aesthetic strivings without concern for credit or immediate graduation. The college also attracts teachers in service desiring to achieve higher degrees or certificates.

The faculty of the College of Arts and Sciences, and other professional men and women, provide the best possible instruction for these students. The college, which began in 1914, is administered by its own dean.

Completing its 79th year of activity, the Loyola School of Dentistry during 1961-62 continued to train students to meet the growing needs of the Chicago area.

In addition to classroom study of bacteriology, anatomy, chemistry, and related subjects, students demonstrated their ability by applied work in the school's Medical Center clinic. Their aim was to acquire a thorough knowledge of the diagnosis, prevention, and treatment of oral and related diseases.

Graduate students concentrated their study in the specialized fields of periodontics, orthodontics, and oral surgery. Their work was aided by the school's closed circuit television system, the first of its kind in the nation.

The School of Law of Loyola University, founded in September, 1908, and approved by the American Bar Association in 1925, confers the degree of Juris Doctor and Bachelor of Laws. The method of instruction employed by the School enables the student to thoroughly prepare for the practice of law. The School's courses yield primary attention to the law of Illinois but do not treat it exclusively. The Law School strives to enlighten the minds of its students in regard to their professional and Christian duties. Not only civil but also social and religious duties must be fulfilled by the student both as a lawyer and as a man.

The School conducts both a day division and an evening division and has a present enrollment of over 300 students.

The fine education offered by the School of Law of Loyola University is made possible through continuous survey and revision of courses offered by the faculty and through the employment of the most proficient and most recent studies in law.

Associate Professor, Microbiology

As an integral part of the University, the School of Medicine has risen to the point of being one of the finest medical schools in the world. Currently representing a consolidation of four independent medical schools, Stritch dates back to 1909 when the first of these, Illinois Medical School, was affiliated with Loyola University.

The objective of the school is to provide an opportunity for education in sound medical science and to fit the qualified student for the practice of medicine. An additional responsibility, and one which goes hand in hand with this objective, is that of extending the knowledge and methods of control of the physical and mental afflictions of man through the research efforts of teacher and student.

For professional, research, and educational purposes, Stritch operates main clinics at Mercy Hospital, Loretto Hospital, Lewis Memorial Maternity Hospital, and Cook County Hospital.

SCHOOL OF NURSING

Now entering into its twenty-seventh year the Loyola School of Nursing has good reason to be proud of its nursing program. During this time it has trained and educated young women to assume their places in a world clamoring for help in its battle against sickness and disease.

The School of Nursing offers two degree programs. It has designed a basic program for high school graduates which combines nurse's training with liberal arts studies. And it has a supplemental degree program which allows registered nurses to attain a degree by supplementing their three year hospital diploma with college academic work.

This college, as all of the colleges of the University, endeavors to imbue its students not only with the technical skills necessary in the nursing profession, but also strives to instill in each individual a knowledge of herself, God, and her fellowmen.

INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS

The Institute of Social and Industrial Relations was founded at Loyola University in 1941. It offers courses on a graduate level to students seeking preparation and advancement in the field of personnel administration, industrial relations, and public administration. It also offers courses to students seeking training as sociologists in industry or government, or as teachers of the social sciences.

Such a program recognizes the strategic importance of employer—employee relationships in modern industrial society. Practical experience in various fields is available to the student through the cooperation of companies, unions, and governmental agencies which devote their time and energy to introducing the students to the actual operation of various phases of industrial relations. This plan is called the Internship Program.

MATTHEW H. SCHOENBAUM
Dean of the School of Social Work

Social workers aid troubled people in solving problems which hamper a productive and satisfying life.

Seeing the essential dignity of man, and appreciating both his natural and supernatural qualities, the Catholic social worker helps the underprivileged, the needy, and the physically and mentally ill. He applies moral and ethical principles in freeing individuals from the obstacles which impede their continued growth. The social worker, then, assists in God's own work — the betterment of mankind.

But to be an effective social worker, principles must be blended with a scientific knowledge of human behavior, familiarity with social service, and an intense interest in people.

The Loyola School of Social Work possesses a philosophy which permeates its entire curriculum. Using a framework of scholastic philosophy and Catholic theology, the School integrates high professional competence with the ideals of Christian life.

Dennis Duffy, Mary Sherlock, and Mary Lu Roberts pause at the bulletin board to read about a new development in the profession — the certification of social workers.

The orientation program held on the Lake Shore Campus in September was attended by most of the second-year students.

The insecure look on the faces of this portion of the first-year class is explained by the fact that this picture was taken on their second day in school.

The research project of second-year students functions through small committees. This one is composed of Alvino Glancey, Julius Zittler, Willis Hortmon, and Geraldine Tosby. The "kibitzers" are Julian Abraham and Bernard Korkos.

The senior officers of the Student Council, Richard Triska, Barbara Shannon, Bernard Farkas, and Julian Abraham meet to plan the election of the first-year officers.

This is the other half of the first year students. The visit to the Lake Shore Campus was one item in their orientation program.

CHILD GUIDANCE CENTER

The Child Guidance Center was established at Loyola University in 1941. Since that time the Center has served more than 8,000 clients and their families. Six full-time clinical psychologists and a group of trained assistants staff the facilities.

The Center gives child guidance service of a psychological (non-psychiatric nature), dealing with behavioral problems, school adjustment, vocational guidance, interpretation of retardation and mental deficiency, pre-school training, and counseling on special school placements. It also provides personal counseling of children and adolescents, with emphasis on the counseling of parents and the treatment of children's emotional problems by psychological therapy.

The Home Study Department was established in 1921 to bring the university to the student, and it has done exactly that. This year students are enrolled from every state in the Union and from Canada. Servicemen and religious in distant Africa and Europe are also taking advantage of this unique opportunity to further their academic training.

Loyola University is one of only two Catholic universities offering a program of home study. And as a member of the National University Extension Association, Loyola's home study courses are widely advertised through the NUEA Guide to Correspondence Studies.

BLUE KEY

Blue Key, the National Leadership and Honor Fraternity, is an organization which honors the well-rounded collegian who fulfills the qualifications of the organization. Each year Blue Key selects pledges from the schools of Business Administration, Dentistry, Lake Shore and Lewis Towers Arts, Law, Medicine, and University College. The students are selected on the basis of the Blue Key principles of leadership, service and scholarship. A number of honorary memberships are also bestowed. The awards are presented at the annual Invitation Dinner, at which the Faculty Man of the Year, and the Organization of the Year are named.

ALPHA SIGMA NU

As a national Jesuit honorary fraternity, Alpha Sigma Nu was founded in 1915 and established its Loyola Chapter in 1939. Presently, membership is extended to thirty Jesuit colleges and universities, while Loyola's ranks contain some 350 inductees. Nominated by the campus Deans and chapter members, prospective candidates are finally selected by the President of the University on the basis of academic excellence consistent with cultural and intellectual service to the University. Officers of the organization during the current year have planned several activities including the annual banquet. Rev. John A. Kemp, S.J. is the moderator.

BETA ALPHA PSI

Beta Alpha Psi is the National Honorary Accounting Fraternity. On the basis of scholastic achievement in general business subjects and in accounting, its members are chosen. It provides its members with professional recognition for their achievements.

The Beta Iota Chapter was installed on the Loyola campus on November 10, 1960. Since its installation, it has provided its members with many opportunities to become acquainted with the accounting profession. It also provides service to the University by assisting the accounting department in many of their extra-curricular projects. The Beta Iota Chapter also publishes a journal which presents current accounting problems to the accounting students for their own advancement.

BETA GAMMA SIGMA

Beta Gamma Sigma is the newest organization at Loyola. This national honor commerce fraternity was founded this year on April 21, 1962, by Dr. Raymond Mayer who is head of the Management department. Beta Gamma Sigma has chapters at all of the Big Ten universities.

In order to join this organization, commerce students must be in attendance at Loyola for three years, and be in either the upper ten per-cent of the Senior class or the upper four per-cent of the Junior class.

Beta Gamma Sigma Members. Richard Ragan, George Wehrle, Jaanne Pasch, John Dixon, and Jerry Swick.

CIRCUMFERENCE

Circumference was founded in 1958 as an organization to give special recognition to women students who had excelled in scholarship, leadership, and service. The present 31 members have maintained a 2.5 cumulative average, which is also a prerequisite for the semester preceding their installation.

The candidates, nominated by the deans of various colleges, department heads, or by the Circumference members themselves, belong to at least two extracurricular organizations and have held two offices or major chairmanships. Although all members are chosen from the undergraduate level, this year Mariette le Blanc has been selected as the first honorary member.

DELTA SIGMA RHO

Victorious members with Donold Stinson are Jerry Woynerowski, Nancy Klickman, Mary Lee Cullen, and Kael Kennedy.

A National Honorary Forensic Fraternity, Delta Sigma Rho was founded to encourage forensic achievement and to reward those excelling in public speaking. Formed in Chicago in 1906, the fraternity now includes over eighty chapters nationally.

In this, its third year of activity at Loyola, Delta Sigma Rho has attempted to promote forensics on the college level by providing the opportunity for students to display their talent. On the high school level it contributes to the Chicago Catholic Debate League.

PHI SIGMA TAU

Phi Sigma Tau, the national honor society of philosophy, was established at Loyola in 1955. The Loyola Chapter was the national society's first chapter at a Catholic University.

The aims of Phi Sigma Tau include the encouragement and rewarding of scholarship, the promotion of research and advanced study in philosophy, and the popularization of philosophy among the student body. Requirements for membership include the maintaining of a "B" average in at least three philosophy courses.

The group is moderated by the Rev. Robert W. Mulligan, S.J.

WHO'S WHO

The first edition of Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges was published for the academic year 1934-1935. This year Loyola University will have participated in this recognition organization for the fourth time.

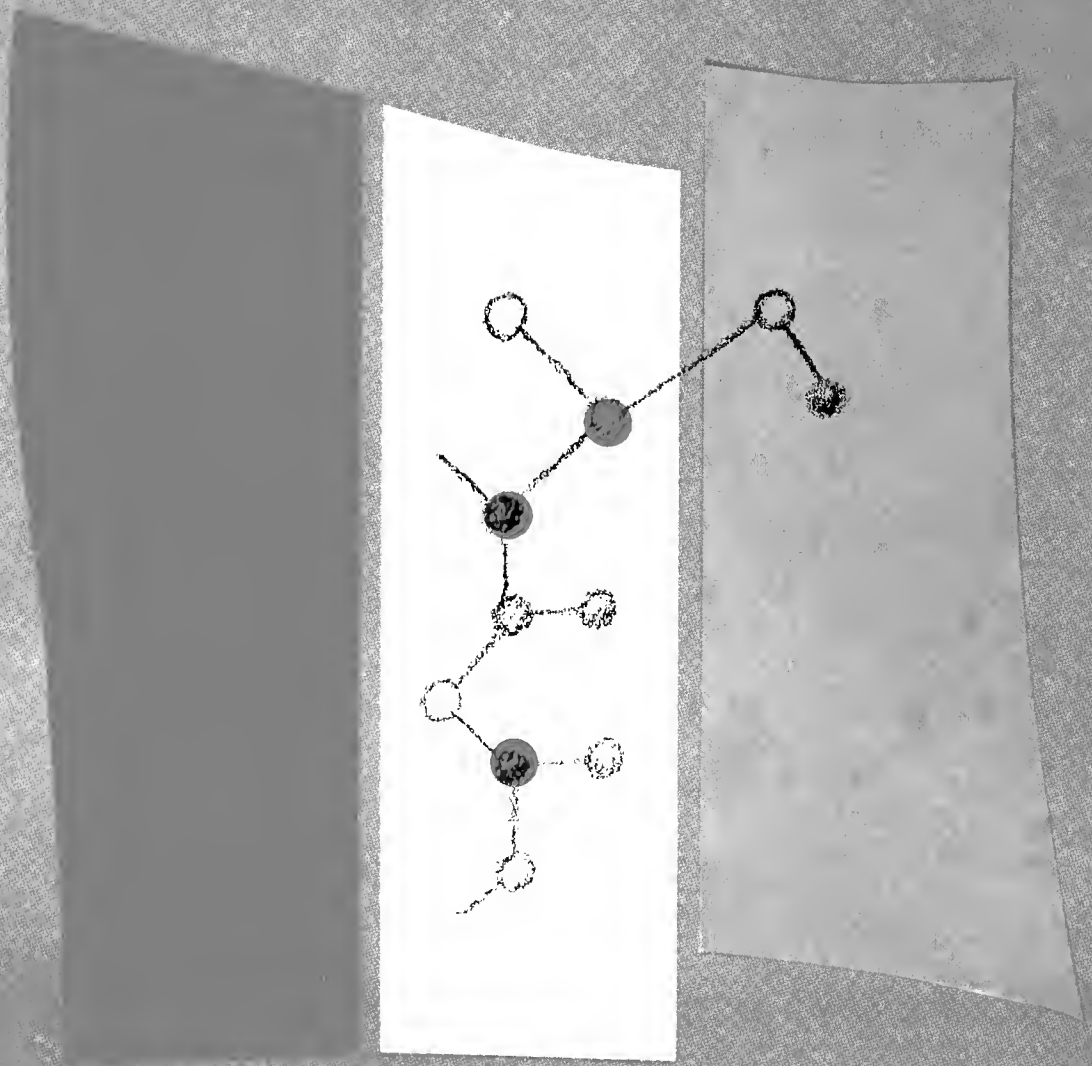

Criteria for selection is based upon the student's scholarship, leadership, cooperation in educational and extracurricular activities, and promise of future usefulness.

Each university or college that participates is assigned a separate quota large enough to give a well-rounded representative of student body, but small enough to confine nominations to an exceptional group of students.

organizations

The Accounting Club was founded at Loyola in 1949. The purpose of the organization is to strive to bridge the gap between accounting theory and its practical application. This aim is accomplished through speakers from the fields of public accounting, industry, and banking.

The organization actively participates in presenting an Opportunity Conclave as an affiliate of the Illinois Conference of Accountancy Clubs. The entire day consists in acquainting the students with the opportunities available for employment, training, and advancement in the business world.

The members are given the opportunity to take active participation in the various programs which it sponsors. This practical application of theories is an invaluable complement to their learning. The members are given the opportunity to discuss the programs and ideas of accountants employed in many of the outstanding Chicago area business firms.

AMERICAN CHEMICAL SOCIETY

In May of 1950, the American Chemical Society replaced the former Chemistry Club at Loyola. This Student affiliate branch of the American Chemical Society is open to students enrolled in the chemistry curriculum and other individuals who are interested in expanding their understanding of science beyond the classroom lecture. The primary purpose of the Society entails the developing of a professional attitude among its members toward the field of chemistry.

The meetings, which are held twice a month, are composed of motion pictures pertaining to research and experiments recently conducted in this science. Also, guest speakers from other universities broaden the prospective chemist's knowledge.

"The Loyola Chemisphere" is the monthly publication produced by the Society which further supplements and fulfills the purposes of the organization.

Founded in 1957 by Lt. Col. James L. McCrorey, the Loyola chapter of the AUSA aims at informing both military and civilian personnel of changes in military technology and at establishing close contact between cadets of the R.O.T.C. corps and the Regular Army.

To achieve its purposes, AUSA provides an orientation program for freshmen at the beginning of each year, sponsors lectures and films, and generally attempts to provide a social atmosphere in which cadets can associate with professional soldiers and with their fellow students. It also sponsors an annual Open House and the formal Military Ball.

It was for those students whose interest in philosophy ranges beyond the average that the Bellarmine Philosophy Club was founded. The purpose of this organization is to extend student's knowledge in the field of things philosophical farther than Scholasticism, and at the same time, engender a deeper respect for the Scholastics through concentrated study of various schools of thought.

To carry out its aims, the club sponsors discussions on both the Lewis Towers and Lake Shore campuses, as well as an annual lecture series by authorities in the field. Guest speakers this year included Father Munson, S.J., with an exploration of Aquinas; and Dr. Hinners, with an analysis of the mind of man.

The club, originally founded in 1920, is open to all students on either campus who wish to learn more of this field.

BELLARMINE PHILOSOPHY CLUB

Robert Luneburg, president of the Bellarmine Philosophy Club, and Dr. Richard Hinners, moderator, addresses a student seminar.

One of the largest student organizations at Loyola with branches on both campuses, the Coed Club cannot boast of the long history that other campus organizations have enjoyed. It was founded only thirteen years ago, soon after large numbers of women students were admitted to the University.

In that short time, however, the Coed Club has gained recognition as an extremely active group and has established some memorable Loyola traditions.

The club's aim is to unite the women students of the University in social, academic, and religious life.

LEWIS TOWERS COED CLUB

In its functions, the Coed Club places emphasis on an extensive program of diversified social activities, including the Freshman Welcoming Tea; the Big Sister program, climaxed by the annual spaghetti dinner; the Coed Club Christmas Formal; the annual Ski Week (co-sponsored with the Loyola Union); the spring card party and fashion show; the spring dance; and the Senior Farewell Dinner. Also an annual event is the closed retreat at Warrenville sponsored by the Coed Club.

Curtain Guild officers: Jerry O'Connor, Mary O'Gallagher, and Rachel Riley.

Once again the Loyola Curtain Guild has decided to let the groundlings thrive on rich fare, and in the doing, has added four very successful performances to its record.

The group started the season with Shaw's Candida, moved on to Rodgers and Hammerstein's The King and I and Saul Levitt's Andersonville Trial, and concluded with a colorful enactment of Shakespeare's Twelfth Night. Each of these difficult productions was handled with aplomb under the able direction of William C. Morris and Donald H. Dickinson of the Speech and Drama Department.

In addition to the four public productions, the group continued its practice of staging workshops each month; all of the members take part in these training sessions, and any student whose interests run in this direction is invited to participate.

LOYOLA UNIVERSITY

DEBATE SOCIETY

"Resolved: That Labor Organizations Should Be Under the Jurisdiction of Antitrust Legislation." With this as their topic for the year, the Loyola Debate Society again took top honors wherever they went, and once again can point to a successful year. Debating the power of unions from Brown University to Harvard to Northwestern to Rochester, the Loyolans met the top competition in the country, and quite frequently brought home trophies to add to their already full assortment.

This, the oldest extracurricular activity at Loyola, offers students invaluable experience in public expression, and the opportunity to exchange their views with students from the leading colleges across the country.

ECON-FINANCE SOCIETY

To make the complex world of economics and finance less formidable to its students is the aim of Loyola's Economics-Finance Society. The organization is a member chapter of the American Finance Association.

The Society endeavors to supplement the academic program in economics and finance by presenting each year a series of interesting speakers and movies.

Membership is open to all students who are in good standing in the University and who have been in attendance for at least one semester.

Economics-Finance Society Officers: Nick Caputo, Don Honley, Dick Rogan.

Epsilon Pi Rho is Loyola's Latin Club. The purpose of the Club is to keep alive interest in the classical contributions to civilization. The Club achieves this purpose by sponsoring a series of lectures each year. Activities concern the cultures of both classical Rome and Greece, the cultures which have been major influences in shaping our own civilization. Since most of the classics majors are members, the Club has strong support. Epsilon Pi Rho has been under the direction of Dr. D. Herbert Abel since its inception.

EQUESTRIAN SOCIETY

The Equestrian Society recently celebrated its 1st year at Loyola. Due to the interest of Fr. Rodman, S.J., its moderator, the society has provided a much-needed program for physical education credit at Lewis Towers.

Instruction by an expert in English saddle, Western saddle and jumping is included plus participation in competitive horse shows.

More in the social vein, the Equestrian Society sponsored a dinner. Other hints of future plans include sleigh rides and picnics, as well as other social gatherings.

Equestrian Society Officers. John De Gaetano, Phyllis Leski, and Loretta Martin.

FINE ARTS CLUB

The Fine Arts Club was organized in 1954 to interest the students in the fine arts and to give them an opportunity to enjoy some of the many cultural offerings of Chicago. The organization can boast of a large and ever increasing base, which presently includes students in all of the undergraduate colleges and many on the graduate level.

The film series which was presented this year offered a wide index of taste-appeals, as exemplified by "Death of a Salesman," "The Informer," "The Bicycle Thief," and "Man with a Million."

FOREIGN STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

A new feature was added to the Loyola Foreign Students Association this year. For the first time, the club is admitting American students as associate members, hoping in this way to further mutual understanding between foreign and American students.

Social and intellectual functions of the club play an important role in achieving this understanding. There is an annual Spring Festival featuring entertainment by members; there are also several informal receptions. In addition, the association sponsors jointly with the Junior Chamber of Commerce a panel discussion on the role of the foreign student in America.

G. M. HOPKINS SOCIETY

The G. M. Hopkins Society is Loyola's English Club. It was founded in 1931, taking its name from that of the major English poet and Jesuit priest. The club's purpose is to provide opportunity for those interested in literature to expand their interests outside the classroom. This year, the club has concentrated on the study of modern poets, such as Dylan Thomas, not ordinarily stressed in the classroom.

Janes, Robert Dreas, Gerald Oskorep, Patrick Boyle, Charles Stapleman, John Wanat, William Hessel, James Vlaming, John Gaherin, Jack Johns, Dennis Walsh, Kenneth Jast, and James Erdmann.

The Glee Club began its activities in September, 1960. From the beginning, Robert Sutter has served as the director, and J. David Smith as the moderator of the Club. The purpose of the organization, according to the President, John Wanat, is to serve the University whenever possible and to develop the musical abilities of its members. Principle activities this year have included the Founders' Day Convocation, the Crib Blessing, and the Lenten Concert.

LOYOLA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Among the student speakers at the Historical Society's High School Interest Night were Eleanor Sigborn, Frank Augustyn, Lori Glatt, and Fred Green.

The largest student, academic organization of the University, the Loyola Historical Society is completing its thirteenth year. During this period, the organization has attempted to provide lectures and discussions on topical and historical subjects. This year Dr. Guenther Motz, the German Consul-General of Chicago, addressed the society on the Berlin Crisis, and the Reverend Francis X. Grollig, S.J. presented a slide-lecture on his recent studies in Peru.

New avenues were opened by the organization this year to foster scholarly interest in historical research. Eight colleges and universities participated in the First Annual Chicago-Area Undergraduate History Symposium which was hosted by Loyola under the auspices of the society.

Participants in the first Annual Undergraduate History Symposium were front: John Buchanan, Roosevelt; Robert Mothews, Lewis; Shoyo Nemes, Borat; Denise Lenzi, Mundelein; Christine Doron, Mundelein; Richard Klug, Lewis; back: Milton Kaspi-Silverman, College of Jewish Studies; Vincent Howard, Loyola; Frank Augustyn, Loyola; Amy Mavrelis, Borat; Donna Pongetti, Rosary; and Ronald Dembrowski, DePoul.

HUMAN RELATIONS CLUB

Juvenile delinquency and criminology, inter-group and international relations, the family, labor-management relations; these are some of the current social problems with which the Human Relations Club deals. By inviting guest speakers to discuss such matters as "Catholics and Jews Behind the Iron Curtain," and by bringing the student directly to the problem, such as a tour of the Cook County Jail, the organization hopes to supplement course-work by spotlighting the social issues of our time.

THE MARKETING CLUB

The Marketing Club brings Loyola students into contact with both the business activities and the businessmen of Chicago. By sponsoring many speeches, dinners, and conferences which are noted both by the Chicago and trade presses, it attempts to show students the opportunities open to them and the necessary requirements for those positions. Each month, the American Marketing Association invites members to attend its meetings. Aiding students in planning their own future, the Club provides an invaluable service to Loyola.

LOYOLA MEN

The title "Loyola Men" reveals this organization's purpose: to build Catholic men. Working from Gonzaga Hall, the organization provides each willing Loyola man the opportunity to form for himself a vital Catholic way of life in the modern world. Students can participate on three levels ranging from living out the ideal of the Apostleship of Prayer to particularly intensive training in being Catholic lay leaders. The balanced, Christian life —this is the aim of Loyola Men.

lege girl, a seminar, held in December, emphasized the woman's place in the university and society. Assisting at retreats and performing other valuable services distinguish. The Loyola Women as an indispensable organization to the school.

THE MATHEMATICS CLUB

The Mathematics Club is an organization designed to stimulate interest in mathematics and all its practical applications. Its purposes include the diffusion of information concerning the field of mathematics; and a cultural and social outlet for its members. The organization achieves these purposes by sponsoring lectures, and by periodic field trips to various government and industrial scientific projects. Membership is open to students who have completed or are completing the second course in calculus.

An outstanding feature of the Mathematics Club is its student tutorial service. This service enables upper division mathematics students to familiarize themselves with student teaching, and to aid the underclassmen.

MODERN LANGUAGE CLUB

Besides promoting a fluency in the French, Russian, Spanish, and German vernacular, the frequent conversation classes sponsored by the Modern Language Club foster an interest in the cultural background of foreign lands. An International Dinner held at Lake Shore Campus, featuring a variety of dishes, and an off-campus Christmas party were included in the club's numerous social activities. Regular lectures given by faculty members, as well as the showing of a foreign movie, supplement the cultural aspect of the club. These activities are very beneficial to the seventy active members of the organization.

MONOGRAM CLUB

The Monogram Club is composed of those athletes who have distinguished themselves in competition in Loyola's three major sports: basketball, swimming, and track. The club is exclusive, counting only seventeen active varsity letter winners.

The activities of the club included a mixer in the beginning of the year to introduce the varsity teams to the students, and a victory party after the Marquette game. The club travels periodically to orphanages to teach the youngsters the proper techniques of the various sports.

The year is concluded with an Annual Communion Breakfast at which the new members are inducted into the group.

THE PHYSICS CLUB

The Physics Club is an organization designed to provide and stimulate interest in the physical sciences. The club was established in 1953 by a group of undergraduate physics majors.

The Physics Club in recent years has affiliated itself with the American Institute of Physics, and has sponsored a series of field trips to various laboratories such as that of the Armour Research Company.

Under the direction of Father Roll, the club this year established a weekly tutorial service for freshmen at Loyola. Through these activities, much extra-curricular interest in physics is stimulated thereby creating, fostering, and increasing an active interest in the field of physics as the dynamic science it is at present.

THE POLITICAL SCIENCE SOCIETY

"The ability to raise searching difficulties on both sides of a subject will make us detect more easily the truth and error of the several points that arise." Because the Political Science Society agrees with this statement of Aristotle, its main function is discussion in groups. This provides the student with an opportunity to express his opinion and defend it against challengers. The Society also sponsors talks by people in politics and by the professors of the Political Science Department on current problems not covered in courses.

The Readers' Circle, an organization devoted to the art of oral interpretation, is completing its first year at Loyola. The group, which numbers twenty, concentrates on monthly Reading Hours which permit all the members to actively engage in oral interpretative work with readings from prose, poetry, and drama.

The activities for the year included a presentation of For the Time Being by W. H. Auden. The group also participated in a round of tournaments at several universities in the state which ended at the Bradley Invitational during Easter Week.

ST. APOLLONIA GUILD

One of the Dental College's most important organizations, the St. Apollonia Guild, this year continued its social and charitable activities.

Dental service was provided for poor children of the city unable to obtain such treatment elsewhere. In addition, the guild sponsored several activities for their own members, activities of a social, intellectual, and religious nature.

The Guild, formed in Boston in 1920, was first organized at Loyola in 1924 and was revived under the direction of Dr. Jerome Vik in 1934.

Formed several years ago by the Rev. John W. Bieri, S.J., the St. Luke's Guild attempts to insure the spiritual development of its members as well as an adequate understanding of the moral problems associated with the practice of medicine.

Activities of the Guild during the past year included regular spiritual exercises, lectures, movies, and discussions of medical, moral, and social issues of general interest. These aimed at preparing the members to face the professional and moral crises peculiar to medicine.

SOCIETY FOR

Chartered in 1950, the Society for the Advancement of Management is an auxiliary of the famous businessman's organization. Among 190 other chapters it has taken 1st place in the nation for the past two years and Chicagoland honors for the past four. Last year Blue Key named it "Organization of the Year."

By sponsoring various activities, the society acquaints students with businessmen, their methods, and their world.

As a project, S.A.M. has provided all the publicity for the Curtain Guild productions, as well as for the Blessing of the Crib last December.

STUDENT AMERICAN DENTAL ASSOCIATION

Designed to prepare its members for professional practice, the Student A.D.A. of Loyola attempts to promote and explain the practice of dentistry outside the classroom. Specific information was given members on public speaking, the preparing of table clinics, and the mastery of dental writing.

Some of the year's activities included dinner meetings with guest speakers; the annual Clinic Day, in which members displayed original projects in the field of dental science; and the traditional Honors Banquet which climaxes the academic year with the presentation of scholastic and clinical awards.

STUDENT AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

The twelve-year-old Student American Medical Association this year continued its efforts to aid medical students in their education. More than seventy schools belong to the association, the largest student medical group in the world.

The general object of the body is to prepare its members to meet the social and ethical obligations of their future profession. One of its specific purposes is to familiarize its members with the aims and ideals of organized medicine.

REQUIEM FOR THE VETS' CLUB

Originally organized as a means of acquainting veterans with their benefits under the G.I. Bill, the Veterans' Club of Loyola has, over the years following the end of the Korean War, gradually developed its more purely social aspects. Until the end of last year, the Club continued as a meeting ground for older veterans returning to school — a center of orientation for the man who has been long out of the school routine. It had continued to function for the past decade with the able assistance of Mr. Knight, Veterans' Administration representative. In the second semester, however, the scarcity of veterans in the student body caused the decision to disband.

Under the leadership of President George Motto and Vice-President Richard Ruda, the Wasmann Biological Society this year expanded its program of both scholastic and social activities.

One new project was the formation of experimental groups to repeat classical scientific experiments, such as those of Pasteur. Talks and reports were given on the results of these experiments in order to stimulate interest in further research programs.

A pre-Medical and pre-Dental program was held on December 10. Personalities from the Stritch Medical and Dental Schools spoke on the problem of admission to the graduate schools.

Social functions included the annual Christmas party, featuring a skit satirizing the faculty of the biology department, and an initiation dinner for new members.

The Young Democrats were organized two years ago in time to join in the 1960 presidential campaign. Since that time they have remained very active on the political front, while watching their ranks increase to nearly 200 members. Father Small of the Political Science Department serves as the advisor for these New Frontiersmen.

During the first semester, the YD's sponsored the movie "Harvest of Shame," and brought to campus a "young Democrat," State Representative, Paul Simon. Later in the year the new edition of "Operation Abolition" was shown. Sidney Yates (D. Ill.) addressed the liberals on campus while on the campaign trail in his efforts to unseat Senator Everett M. Dirksen (R. Ill.).

Chartered in 1959, the Loyola University Young Republicans consistently displayed an active interest in politics on a national and local level. Sponsoring such notable guest speakers as Senator Barry Goldwater (Arizona), Senator Everett Dirksen (Illinois), Senator John Tower (Texas), Representative Walter Judd (Minnesota), Representative John Anderson (Illinois), and William Rusher (publisher, National Review), the Y.R.s have successfully galvanized political thought on campus. The ranks of these rising young conservatives have grown considerably in this short time, and their positive program constitutes a challenge for a new breed of American.

Under the sponsorship of the Military Science Department, the girls are safely supervised and taught by a member of the Military Science staff. This year several members were awarded honorary commissions and grade rank by the Military Science Department.

ALUMNUS

The aim of the Alumnus is to keep the alumni abreast of the events and endeavors of the University. It is filled with feature stories on prominent personalities and with news stories of the latest plans with regard to building progress, extension of the University, fund drives, and recent activities. Under the editorship of Nancy Gallagher, the magazine is issued five times a year.

To supply the news to alumni all over the world, the Alumnus relies upon a news clip service and initiative of former students to provide information for its publication. The Alumnus is distributed to all Loyola graduates.

Nancy Gallagher and Ethel LaPash pause in the middle of planning the next issue of the Alumnus.

CADENCE

Cadence, the Loyola literary quarterly, combines individuality and freedom of thought to distinguish it from the other student publications. Self-expression is evident in the wide selection of articles, ranging from politics to philosophy, from the arts to current events, which are embraced in the magazine.

Cadence exists to provide a stimulus for fine writing on the part of the student body. It attempts to present the best fiction and poetry written at Loyola, as well as reviews of notable books and recordings.

The core of every intelligent, college student body is an informed and informative campus newspaper. The LOYOLA NEWS lives its role of the voice of students and faculty and adds to this creative sources of student opinion, announcements of timely activities, and special features which have captured the attention of notable people across the nation.

Under the editorship of Dave Swinehart, the NEWS strives for accuracy and impartiality in all news stories, keeping always a sense of responsibility to truth and good taste. It is Loyola's forum for free expression and a stimulus of thought and response in the college community.

Editorials this year have provoked an amazing flow of student and faculty reactions. The NEWS's back page vibrates with the humorous, intellectual, and controversial. During the second semester a foreign correspondent, Pete Steinfelds, added to its ever-increasing cosmopolitan nature.

Special features have always been one of the most important aspects of the NEWS's policy. This spring it published a religious supplement which sparked intense interest from this campus throughout the country. Letters of commendation poured in from leading Catholic clergy and laymen (including an editorial in AMERICA) praising the NEWS for its initiative and objectivity in presenting a meaningful evaluation of religion on a Catholic university campus.

The paper's new format, introduced at the start of the year, has allowed the editors a much greater flexibility in presenting news. An "Across the Nation" column provided Loyola students with a means of learning what has been taking place on college campuses around the country. Columnists and feature writers probed the inner workings of the university and commented on notable happenings.

LOYOLAN

The traditional purpose of a year-book has been to provide for the students, especially the graduating seniors, a visible record of student life, during the preceeding year. The book should have a wide scope, should offer a composite picture of the academic, religious, and social functions of the school.

This year's LOYOLAN, while still fulfilling this primary and traditional task, has attempted to do more. The editors, Jim Brophy and Eleanor Sigborn, determined to produce a volume which would symbolize the contemporary spirit of change and functionalism, as well as recording the life of a modern student in a metropolitan university.

To do this, they decided on several format changes. In the 1962 LOYOLAN, the emphasis is on fresh layout, sharp and crisp pictures, action shots whenever possible, a minimum of verbose copy, and up-to-date writeups. This is a new book, a book which is intended to catch the very spirit of modern college life and hold it motionless for the future.

RECENT DECISIONS

Each month from November through June, students of the Loyola University School of Law write and edit a section of the Illinois Bar Journal. This magazine, with a readership of over eight thousand judges, lawyers, and law students, is the official publication of the Illinois Bar Association. The Loyola section, entitled "Recent Decision," has been included since 1949.

"Recent Decisions" reports current cases decided by Illinois and Federal Courts, analyses the cases, and comments on their significance to the legal profession. For the past three years, opinions of previous years have been correlated to the cases under discussions, providing an annotation of legal comment.

The publication attempts to provide for practicing attorneys an accurate and informative analysis of prevailing legal opinion, and to furnish law students with some knowledge of legal comment and criticism.

LOYOLA LAW TIMES

A well informed lawyer is a useful citizen and an understanding public servant; a poorly informed one will often be professionally incompetent and socially sterile. Recognizing this need for information on current legal events, Loyola's Law School last year instituted a new quarterly publication, the Loyola Law Times.

This magazine, which is sent to all alumni of the Law School, is devoted to careful analysis of political and social issues whose solutions depend on a proper application of legal principles. In so doing, it attempts to stimulate in the lawyer a sense of social consciousness and cultural awareness.

Realizing the important role of the lawyer in our complex society, the editors feel that the legal professional has an opportunity and an obligation to help create a more humane society. They believe that lawyers are specially qualified for this role by their education, experience, and daily contact with critical social problems.

The Loyola Law Times aims at uniting the knowledge and experience of its alumni, at informing alumni of the problems to be faced, and at pointing out to them the legal techniques which can or have been used to solve them.

ALPHA DELTA GAMMA

Founded on the Loyola campus in 1927, Alpha Delta Gamma has since become the nation's largest Catholic college social fraternity.

It is dedicated to the promotion of high scholastic achievements and to the general fostering of Christian ideals. Moreover, it strives to enrich the social advantage of college life by supporting all activities of the University.

The Alpha Delta this year placed first in both intramural football and basketball in the fraternity league. They received an award for best house decorations during Pow-Waw Weekend, and placed an act in the annual variety show.

Mike Dessimoz served as this year's president, Dave Raia held the office of vice-president, and Tony Paulas was treasurer. Pat Hetrick filled the executive secretary's past, while Kenny Christian carried out the duties of pledgemaster and Bob Schlytz was chosen steward.

ALPHA KAPPA PSI

In 1904, Alpha Kappa Psi was founded as the first national professional commerce fraternity in the country. The Gamma Iota chapter was established at Loyola in 1952, with the aim of uniting students in the field of business and instilling in them good professional attitudes.

One of the most important of Alpha Kappa's activities is its annual Alpha Kappa Psi Day, a business fair for all commerce sophomores. Speakers from the business world take this opportunity to inform students on practical applications of the various fields of concentration offered in the College of Commerce.

Other activities of the fraternity include professional meetings, two Father-and-Son Communion Breakfasts each year, a New Year's Eve party, a St. Patrick's Day party, and a June Golf Outing. An annual Research Project is also undertaken by the members.

ALPHA OMEGA

That ideal which Alpha Omega, the first national Jewish dental fraternity, endeavors to achieve is best expressed by its motto: "Harmonia, Amor, et Veritas," Harmony, Love, and Truth. These words were the inspiration of a small group of pioneers who founded Alpha Omega in 1907 at the Pennsylvania College of Dental Surgery.

From a fraternity numbering four members, Alpha Omega has grown into an organization boasting seventy-five chapters and over four thousand members. The Alpha Lambda Chapter of Alpha Omega was founded at the Loyola School of Dentistry in 1932.

Alpha Lambda Chapter prides itself in not only aiding its members in preparing themselves for their chosen profession, but also in maintaining their social life. Each year the fraternity fills its calendar with events such as smokers, a Halloween Dance, and an April Dance. It also sponsors many activities appealing to both the cultural and professional interests of its members.

ALPHA TAU DELTA

Alpha Tau Delta, a national fraternity for women in nursing, established its Xi Chapter at Loyola in 1957.

The group's purposes are to promote higher professional standards in the field of nursing, to develop the profession through a program of nursing education, and to form a close bond of friendship among women planning to become nurses.

Alpha Tau's social functions this year included sponsoring the "Christmas in Crimson" dance, holding parent-daughter dinners, and arranging communion breakfasts. It also continued its custom of distributing baskets of food to poor families on Thanksgiving Day.

Mary K. Bussert was president of Alpha Tau Delta for the year 1961-62, and acted as chairman of the intersorority council. Sharon Chwierut was vice-president, Mary Muskus served as corresponding secretary, Celeste Renier acted as recording secretary and Mary Anne Hopkins was treasurer.

CHI THETA UPSILON

Chi Theta Upsilon, a social sorority, entered its fourth year of existence under the leadership of president Darlene O'Brochta. Chi Theta is open to women on both Loyola campuses.

In addition to participation in a variety of school activities, the sisters of Chi Theta held monthly closed parties and organized a party for the children of St. Vincent's Orphanage.

The group this year achieved 100 per-cent participation in the Student Associates of Loyola and won the Ugly Man Cantest, held each year to raise money for the Jesuit missions. In order to encourage academic achievement among its members, the sorority presented its Ignatian and Aquinas Awards at the end of the year to members distinguished by scholastic work.

DELTA SIGMA PI

Delta Sigma Pi, a professional commerce fraternity, was founded in 1907 at New York University. In the International Fraternity of the 110 undergraduate chapters, Loyola's Gamma Pi Chapter was installed in 1950.

The purpose of the fraternity is to promote closer affiliation between Business Commerce students and the business world. It accomplishes this goal through professional tours, speeches, and movies scheduled throughout the year. The highlight of the first semester program is the Bal Rose mixer at which is chosen the girl who reigns as the "Rose of Delta Sigma Pi," for the year.

Delta Sigma Pi is the only fraternity which owns a fraternity house on the Lewis Towers campus.

During the academic year of 1957-58, Delta Sigma Pi earned the "Organization of the Year" award given by Blue Key.

DELTA ZETA CHI

Founded in 1959, the Delta Zeta Chi sorority is the newest at Loyola, and open to women at both campuses. The sorority has answered the need for an Arts & Sciences sorority.

The officers include Christine Petroskey, President; Ann Van Riemsdyk, Vice-President; Mary De Vliieger, Secretary; and Sandy Domes, Treasurer. Historian for the sorority is Mary Bower.

Sorority activities begin with Orientation and include participation in Pow-Wow, the Interfraternity Singing Contest. The sorority sponsors the Winterlude Christmas Dance, an orientation party, and intramurals. For the first time, Delta Zeta Chi sponsored a Charity day benefit for the Little Sisters of the Poor during the Christmas holidays, and it plans to continue this practice, in addition to its other activities—the Snowman Contest, Dad's Day basketball game and the May Dance.

Members of the sorority hold positions in the Loyola News, Student Associates of Loyola, the Coed Club, and the Historical Society.

KAPPA BETA GAMMA

This national social sorority was founded at Marquette University in 1917. Loyola's Epsilon chapter was established in 1954.

As in the past, this year Kappa gave its full support to the Float Parade and the all-important SAL Drive as well as the IFC Sing, the Ugly Man Contest, Loyola News, and the Latin Club. Kappa girls held offices in the Coed Club and the Intersorority Council and were members of Circumference. Kappa was also picked to head the freshmen women's orientation week and the University Weekend's Casino committees.

The annual Kappa Knight Party was just one of the highlights in Kappa's social calendar. Teas for prospective pledges were held in nearby hotels. Numerous closed parties, a winter formal dance and a spring formal dance rounded out the year of events.

PHI ALPHA DELTA

John C. Fitzgerald, Dean Emeritus of Loyola's school of Law, addresses PAD members and "rushees" at a smoker held at Younkers Restaurant.

Phi Alpha Delta was formed on November 8, 1902, and Loyola's Webster chapter was organized in 1935. Since its inception, it has been extremely active in defining and furthering the aims and principles of the legal profession.

The chapter is composed of approximately seventy students from both the day and evening divisions of the Law School, all of whom must have completed at least one year of legal studies to be eligible for membership.

Phi Alpha Delta counts among its former members Harry S. Truman, Richard Nixon, Senator John Sparkman, and former President Woodrow Wilson, in addition to Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

The fraternity was formed specifically to help solve the problems of admission requirements to the Bar. It is now the largest legal fraternity in the world.

PHI BETA PI

Phi Beta Pi was organized in 1891 at the University of Pittsburgh Medical School. It was here that the Alpha chapter came into being. In 1921 the Alpha chapter was brought to Loyola's Stritch School of Medicine.

One of Alpha Omega's founders, Dr. L. D. Moorhead, former Dean of Loyola's Medical School, has achieved great renown in the medical profession. His genius is commemorated in the annual Moorhead Lecture-ship of Phi Beta Pi. The history of the Alpha Omega chapter, beginning with Dr. Moorhead, has been an illustrious one—a credit, indeed, to the entire fraternity.

The chapter house for members of Alpha Omega is located near the Medical School. Here its members gather for various professional and social events. Here, too, moments of relaxation and fellowship are enjoyed and the burdens of medical life are set aside for brief periods of fun and companionship.

PHI CHI

In 1907, the members of a local medical fraternity asked to be affiliated with the national medical fraternity, Phi Chi. Thus was born the Phi Sigma chapter of Phi Chi. The chapter was formally christened the next year at Phi Chi's national convention in Baltimore.

At present, Phi Chi has an active membership of approximately one hundred — about half of whom live in the fraternity's house at 712 S. Ashland.

The aim of Phi Chi is to foster among its members a spirit of academic and medical interest as well as to provide social contacts for medical students.

The members of Phi Chi have an unusual spirit of brotherhood, in spite of the large size of the fraternity. This unique relationship among its members has given Phi Chi a distinct quality fostered by its members and respected by all who come in contact with it.

PI ALPHA LAMBDA

Pi Alpha Lambda is a local social fraternity which was founded on the Lake Shore Campus in 1924. It is thus the second oldest social fraternity on the Loyola Campus.

Reverend James J. Mertz, S.J., organized Pi Alpha Lambda to help secure funds for the construction of Madonna della Strada Chapel. The group's success in this project has been commemorated by the placing of the Pi Alpha shield over the main entrance to the chapel.

Pi Alpha Lambda has as a goal for its members the attainment of high moral and academic standards.

This year Pi Alpha Lambda placed third in the Paw-Waw Weekend float contest.

Thomas Nelson served as this year's Pi Alpha president, with James Meagher as vice-president. Thomas Tyler acted as pledge-master, Patrick Ryan as secretary, and Robert Tufo as treasurer.

PSI OMEGA

Psi Omega is the Loyola School of Dentistry's largest fraternity. The fraternity has as its objectives the cultivation of social qualities, assistance of its members in all laudable undertakings, advancement of the dental profession, and lifetime friends to whom a member may turn for advice and assistance.

The fraternity has become an integral member of the dental community. Academically, its members have shown their excellence by maintaining a high level of scholastic achievement. Socially, Psi Omega begins the year with functions welcoming freshmen such as the Open House, a smoker, and Pledge Banquet. The fraternity is proud of its past record, and looks confidently to the future.

SIGMA DELTA PHI

Sigma Delto Phi is an undergraduate social fraternity, Loyola's youngest. It was organized in 1958 to gain physical, moral, and academic betterment for its members.

This past year has been an active and very gratifying one for Sigma Delta, and a source of pride to its members. The group acquired the largest number of pledges of all undergraduate fraternities — 27. It participated in Pow-Wow Weekend, where it won a second place award in the float parade.

Sigma Delta Phi sponsored a mixer in the Union and presented an act in the annual Variety Show. It also greatly aided the Curtain guild in stage work and ticket sales for The Andersonville Trial.

SIGMA LAMBDA BETA

Jim Kevin, Jim Muench, and Len Wantochowicz pool their talents in a study session.

Sigma Lambda Beta was chartered and incorporated on February 1, 1927, by a group of undergraduate students from the College of Commerce.

The fraternity has been the right arm of student government in the University College. It works to promote such activities as the Dean's Coffee Hour and the Graduates' Honor Banquet. Its members also try to further the interests of Loyola among the night school students, and many individual members are constantly initiating new projects for student benefit while serving on the University College Student Council.

Two new organizations in night school, the University College Club and the Society for the Advancement of Management have secured aid and encouragement from Sigma Lambda Beta.

The fraternity is a very active undergraduate organization, not the least of the activities of which has been working with the Loyola Union. Past officers have twice held the highest office in the Union.

Loyola University's chapter of Sigma Pi has completed its first full year on campus realizing considerable success. When Phi Mu Chi, the University's oldest local fraternity, joined the ranks of Sigma Pi, one of the nation's most respected nationals, a unique combination of local tradition coupled with a wealth of national sagacity. The resulting union affected an efficiently directed organization with vast local history and tradition. The nationalization of Phi Mu Chi, then, has become a definite advantage to its members, to its alumni, and to prospective members. But to look outside its own ranks, Sigma Pi also brings a stronger look to the fraternity system at Loyola, thus benefiting the entire school.

SIGMA PI ALPHA

A local social fraternity, Sigma Pi Alpha was founded in 1933 to promote intellectual and social interests among its members and to provide for their development, both spiritually and physically, in an atmosphere of friendship and cooperation. It was originally intended only for students of Polish extraction; however, since 1947 membership has been opened to all students of the University.

Currently, the fraternity is engaged in a vigorous reorganization program. From an inactive status in 1959, Sigma Pi Alpha has striven since to regain the prominent place which it once held at Loyola.

With a total active membership of twenty-three, Sigma Pi Alpha has in addition one of the largest and most active alumni associations in the Middle West.

TAU DELTA PHI

A national social fraternity, Tau Delta Phi was founded at the College of the City of New York in the year 1914. In 1949 the Tau Eta chapter was organized at Loyola by Harold B. Murphy, who served as the first moderator and has helped the fraternity continuously in the succeeding years.

The versatility of the Tau Delt members can be seen in their active participation in all facets of university life and the annual Inter-fraternity Sing is sponsored by them. Their history includes several receptions of the Blue Key Social Organization Award given each year to the organization best exemplifying the ideal of service to the University.

Enjoying the reputation for academic excellence, the Tau Delt this year placed first in fraternity scholarship.

TAU KAPPA EPSILON

Tau Kappa Epsilon this year continued its recent floatbuilding superiority by winning the Pow-Wow Float Award for the third straight year. The Tekes constructed a spectacular creation, with pastel-shaded horses pulling a Roman chariot, while a toga-clad emperor and his slave girls followed.

To this achievement, the fraters added sponsorship of the Ugly Man Contest and Halloween mixer, the Sweetheart Contest, and the Coed tea. Lectures were also scheduled at the Teke house, located at 6215 N. Kenmore.

Before their association with the National Tau Kappa Epsilon Organization, the present Tekes were known as the University Club. Since that affiliation in 1956, the fraternity has rapidly grown to its present strength and influence.

The fraternity's motto, "Not for wealth, rank, or honor, but for personal worth and character," sums up its aims and the goal towards which all its varied activities are directed.

With the establishment of Upsilon chapter of Theta Phi Alpha in 1943, Loyola University witnessed the beginning of sorority life.

Today, Theta Phi can lay claim to being the oldest and only Pan-Hellenic sorority at Loyola. It has as its ideals scholarship, leadership, and—most important—friendship. The chapter's chaplain is the Rev. Leo Martin, S.J., and the moderator is Miss Mary Louise McPartlin.

Last September Theta Phi held a Sorority Weekend in Wisconsin. Rushing was held in October, and in November the group entered the Interfraternity Sing, in which it won first prize. December brought Pow-Wow Weekend and the more creative members designed and built a parade float. Also in December the sorority sold Christmas cards for the Glenmary missions.

Spring months were kept for private parties and activities. In May the spring pledge class was formerly initiated and the year was climaxed with the annual White Rose Ball.

XI PSI PHI

Xi Psi Phi dental fraternity has a two-fold purpose: first, to develop a membership devoted to its profession, school, and fraternity; second, to aid its members in pursuing their professional, cultural, and social desires.

The Lambda Chapter of Xi Psi Phi was established at Loyola in 1930. The organization's many functions, such as house parties, an annual formal, and a yearly golf outing open to the entire Dental School's faculty and student body, have attracted more pledges than any other Dental School fraternity.

An auxiliary division to the fraternity, composed of wives and fiances of the members, is known as the "Zipperettes"; they serve the fraternity by arranging refreshments and decorations for social activities, and providing clerical work for reviews.

Dr. John R. Allison is the moderator of Xi Psi Phi. The Xi Psi Phi Quarterly unifies all the chapters and gives each group the opportunity to publish the results of its activities.

LOYOLA HALL

For Loyola Hall, the year 1961-62 was marked by increased participation in University activities and a growth in collegiate spirit.

Rambler Rousers from the Hall formed a white-shirted cheering section at Loyola's home basketball games, and residents listened to away games — whenever possible — over the radio or by special long-distance telephone hookups. These projects were instrumental in stirring up student interest to a fever pitch for the Bowling Green basketball game, the year's most exciting.

Residents especially distinguished themselves in intramural athletics, as the P.I.D.'s from the first floor north snatched the school football title and the Northmen of the second floor north ran off with the northern independent crown.

The Hall hosted many social events during the year, such as open houses, parties, mixers, movies, and an off-campus donce held at the Illinois Athletic Club. The Hall also entered the Miss Loyola contest, constructed a float for the Pow-Wow, and erected house decorations.

Perhaps the most enjoyable moments of resident life were the off beat expressions of college spirit, which led students to block rush-hour traffic on Sheridan Road with giant snowballs, cultivate icicles from window ledges, lock prefects in their rooms, and generally help bring a little more variety to the daily routine of college life.

STEBLER HALL

Stebler Hall is Loyola's main women's residence, located at 1101 Loyola Avenue. The majority of the eighty girls who reside there are from Chicago. The dormitory is under the care of Miss Dawson, the House Mother.

Annette Vigeant is president of the executive board which meets once a month to carry out the business at hand. The application of rules is under the rule of the judiciary board. This board is comprised of two representatives from each class.

Some of the outstanding contribution made to university life by the residents have been participation in Pow-Wow Weekend with a house decoration, the nomination of Miss Mimi Duggan for the Miss Loyola contest, and their gala social event "Vegas Variety."

Future plans are being drawn up for an additional girls resident hall across the street from Stebler.

DELAWARE HALL

Delaware Hall is the second largest women's residence at Loyola. This Hall possesses housing accommodations for sixty girls, most of whom are out-of-town residents. The dormitory is under the care and supervision of Miss Barrett, although students play an active role in administration.

The Executive Board, which comprises the planning portion of dormitory administration, is headed by Nancy Slattery. Under her are: Vice-President, Catherine Silvani; Treasurer, Sharon Mekus; Social Chairman, Sue Freko, and the Secretary, Emma Lou Gahollick.

The Judiciary Board is composed of Nancy Slattery as President, with Mary Bussart, Lynn Mizerik, and Nijole Norkus as her assistants.

Delaware was very active this year in campus activities. The girls placed an entry in the float contest during Pow-Wow Weekend and had an act in the Variety Show. This Hall was especially active in SAL, from which they hold a special award.

"1043 HALL"

The women's residence hall located at 1043 West Loyola is the most recent addition to the Loyola Campus. Established in September, 1961, "1043" was acquired to house more women undergraduates at the Lake Shore Campus who wished to live on campus.

Although housing only thirty-nine women, "1043" has made many contributions to university life: a faculty tea held in their residence hall, participation in Pow-Wow Weekend, and teams in each phase of the women's intramurals.

In addition to individual participation in university activities, "1043" is represented collectively by their dormitory council. Its functions and procedures are governed by the decisions of the residents.

The dormitory is supervised by Miss Virginia Webb, the House Mother.

GONGAZA HALL

Gonzaga Hall is a combination retreat house and dormitory, named after the "patron of youth" who died before he was ordained.

Gonzaga houses permanent Chicago residents under the rule of Tom Bolond, the student manager. The priest in charge and retreat master is Fr. Hayes, S. J.

Closed retreats are held from Friday evening to early Sunday afternoon.

Some main activities held this past year the retreat for married, night school students held March 9-11, an eight day retreat during the mid-semester break, and the construction of a chapel by the residents themselves.

ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT

GEORGE IRELAND
Athletic Director

After eleven years of coaching basketball at Loyola, George Ireland has compiled a creditable 128-109 won-last record. The former Notre Dame All-American is finishing his third year as athletic director. Selected last year to the NCAA Basketball Rules Committee, Ireland coached for fifteen years at Mar-mion Military Academy before coming to Loyola.

Al Wagner, a Loyola graduate, began his first year at LU this season. Before assuming the duties of Aqua-Rambler mentor, Wagner was swimming coach of St. Phillip's High School. While attending Loyola, he won major letters in swimming, being named the Most Valuable Swimmer in 1955. He also swam for the United States in international competition and in the Olympic trials in Los Angeles.

Head track coach for the past twelve years, Jerry Weiland is a graduate of the University of Southern California. Prior to this season, Weiland had served as head cross-country mentor for eleven years. Highly successful on the cinders, Weiland-tutored teams have won consistently for a dozen seasons.

Donald Amidei assumed the responsibilities of head cross-country coach at Loyola, after two seasons as assistant track and cross-country mentor. A graduate of DePaul, Amidei coached for eleven seasons at St. George's High School.

After eleven seasons as Loyola's head bowler, coach Charles Greenstein continues to produce winning squads. Founder of the Mid-western Intercollegiate Bowling Conference, Greenstein is a graduate of Loyola. While a student, he captained the bowling team from 1949 to 1950. During the 1948 campaign, Greenstein rolled a 300 game.

John Stevens, a graduate of DePaul, headed Loyola's golf team for the fourth time this year. In his free time, Stevens is an assistant pro at the Edgewater Beach Club.

In his rookie year as Loyola's freshman basketball coach, George Smith posted a record of 6-3. Smith is a graduate of Loyola.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Stater stuns Gavin.

Making a mock of all the pre-season reports, the Ramblers of Loyola compiled a 21-3 regular season record. The sophomore laden squad developed into a national contender, earning a bid to the National Invitational Tournament held in New York between March 17-24. Loyola turned in their best season record since the 1948-'49 Ramblers won twenty-two and lost five before going to the NIT. That squad won three of four in New York, finally falling to San Francisco, 48-47, in the championship contest.

Something to bear in mind is the fact that the starting five will only graduate one member, Mike Gavin. The rest of the "run-and-brigade," Jerry Harkness, Jack Egan, Les Hunter, and Vic Rause, will all return to Loyola's hardwood court for another season.

The team began its campaign with a successful four game homestand, racking up victories over Assumption (95-44), South Dakota (104-63), Wayne State (93-43), and North Dakota (96-73).

Venturing forth from Alumni Gym for the first time, the Ramblers traveled to Kalamazoo to hand a rugged Western Michigan five a 87-85 overtime defeat. Sticking to the road, LU suffered its first setback at the hands of the nations number one, Ohio State, 92-72.

Returning to their home court, the Ramblers tackled and defeated Ohio University of the strong Mid-American conference, 77-69. The Ramblers continued their winning ways by taking their stadium openers, smashing Colgate (93-54) and easing past the erratic Hoosiers of Indiana (95-90).

Coach Ireland's crew next journeyed to Michigan where they trounced the University of Detroit 90-76. The second Rambler defeat of the season came at the hands of Marquette's Warriors, who un-hospitably snuck past LU, 63-60 in the Milwaukee Arena.

Safe at home, the Ramblers set back Memphis State 100-76 before a capacity crowd in Loyola's Alumni Gym. Traveling as far south as possible, Loyola crushed their southern namesakes, Loyola of New Orleans, 96-73.

LU conquered the Redmen of St. John's, 92-82, in one of the hardest fought games in Chicago Stadium history, before traveling to southern Ohio to completely outclass Ohio U., 93-75.

After comparatively easy victories over Baldwin-Wallace and Western Michigan, the NIT bound Ramblers defeated a tough Marshall squad on the losers home court, 88-80.

Following a warm-up game with St. Norbert (LU won 105-52), the Ramblers hosted Marquette at the stadium. The upset conscious Warriors were surprised before 16,214 fans as the revenge-seeking Ramblers hustled to an impressive 98-84 victory. To add to the night's laurels, Jerry Harkness broke Loyola's two season scoring record with a final second bucket.

"Twistin' the Night Away"

Washington of St. Louis fell to the Ramblers 103-80, before LU took on the highly touted Bowling Green Falcons. Rebounding from a poor first half, the Ramblers scored a 81-63 upset.

Finishing on the road, Loyola barely snuck by John Carroll, 67-66, before falling to Xavier, 96-89.

LOYOLA UNIVERSITY RAMBLERS

Several Rambler records were broken over the season. Gerry Harkness totaled 156 free throws to break his own record of 150 set last year. He tied his single season scoring record of 520 points. The team's 2184 points for the season broke the old school record set during the thirty-five game 1949-'50 season (2013). The 1961-'62 Ramblers played only twenty-four regular season games.

Coch George Ireland came up with his best year at Loyola. LU's 21-3 record bettered his previous high set during the 1951-'52 campaign when his team won seventeen while losing eight. That year he was named Coach of the Year by the Chicago basketball writers.

Harness' 520 points reaped him a 21.7 point per game average. He was followed by Egan with 324 (13.5); Rouse, 320 (13.9); Gavin 310 (12.9); Hunter, 300 (12.5); and Miller, 212 (8.8).

The Loyola Ramblers showed their opponents in the NIT the balanced scoring attack which they used during the regulation campaign. Ron Miller and Jerry Harkness, both hometown New York boys, led the Ramblers with 64 and 49 points respectively.

The Temple game saw Miller pump in 19 points, while Harkness and Vic Rouse contributed 15 each.

In the Dayton-Loyola contest four of the starting five scored in double figures. They were Harkness, 25; Les Hunter, 19; Rouse, 16; and Harkness, 12.

In the consolation game between LU and Duquesne, all five of the starters again hit for double figures. Contributing to the victory were: Harkness, Miller, and John Egan with 20 points each; Rouse, with 18; and Hunter, who garnered 15.

NATIONAL INVITATIONAL TOURNAMENT

The Loyola Ramblers climaxed a great season by accepting a bid to the National Invitational Tournament, held in New York's Madison Square Garden from March 17-24.

The sophomore laden Ramblers received a first round bye on the basis of their performance during the regular season. A close triumph by Temple over Providence, 80-78, set the scene for LU's first game.

The Rambler five did their parading on St. Patrick's Day up and down the hardwood of Madison Square Garden. Led by an initial rush by Jerry Harkness, LU jumped to a quick 21-4 lead. The determined Loyolans continued on their way doubling the Owls score, 48-24, ending the half with a 48-30 edge.

The pressure of the second half was not as great. Temple's leading rebounder fouled out with 16:48 remaining, and the Loyola cagers proceeded to coast to a 75-64 victory and place in the semi-finals against Dayton.

In Dayton, Loyola met an inspired squad. The Ramblers controlled the first half and led at the half time break, 44-41; but during the second half the Flyers' Chmielewski took over the rebounding and scored 22 of his 27 points. Gordy Hatton also was a thorn in the Ramblers' side with his 33 markers. The final buzzer sounded with championship bound Dayton ahead by a 98-82 margin.

The Rambler cagers then proceeded to show a Duquesne contingent that they wanted the third place trophy. The final score, 95-84. The score quickly mounted, standing 43-38 at half time in favor of LU. The second half saw the Dukes fight back to a 50-49 advantage. This was quickly reversed as LU added speed to skill, pulling away to victory.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

Under the tutorage of George Smith, the littlest Rambler's battled their way through a 6-3 season.

Leading the frosh in scoring was Edward "Billy" Smith, with 259 points for a 28.8 point per game average. Earl Johnson followed with a 25.2 average on 227 points. Rounding out the starting five, Dan Cannoughton scored 141 points (15.7); Paul Robertson, 85 (9.4); and Tom Stack, 70 (7.8).

The freshmen five led the season off against Fr. Perez, dropping the contest 81-86. After easily beating the fraternity all-stars (134-35), the frosh whipped North Park, 97-43.

Once more the nemesis of Loyola freshmen proved to be the Jamaco Saints, who beat the frosh 93-74 in the first encounter between the two squads. After knocking off Valparasio, 78-56, and crunching two teams of less significance, the freshman squad once more fell to Jamaco before finishing the season with a 87-70 victory over Wheaton.

CROSS COUNTRY

Loyola's cross-country team, under the direction of Don Amidei, had its best season in the school's history last fall, closing with a record of seven and one. Their lone loss was sustained at the hands of the powerful U. of C. Track Club, and this by only six points.

Leading the harriers for the second straight year was sophomore Tom O'Hara, who won all races against college competition and split a pair with the number two distance runner in the country, Gar Williams. Sophomore Dick Cochran was second man on the team, followed closely by freshmen Pat Mitten, Ed Russell, and Richard Reed, who should be among the best middle distance runners next year.

Rounding out the squad were senior team captain Doug Balen, sophomore miler John Pendergast, junior two-miler Jim Mooney, Dan O'Leary, and John Kalovich. Tom Matulis, who started the year as number two man, was put out of action by an injury suffered in mid-season.

Highlighting the campaign was the NCAA Cross Country Championship in Michigan, at which Tom O'Hara took a fifth place, competing against the best runners in the country. Running the four-miler in 20:12, O'Hara became one of five sophomores in the history of the meet to finish this high. Due to his outstanding achievement, O'Hara received a berth on the All-American Cross Country Team.

TRACK

A Loyola cindermon prepares to begin the mile relay.

The return of several outstanding lettermen and the addition of a crop of promising freshmen gave the Loyola track team one of its best seasons thus far. Early in the campaign, the college mile relay team of O'Hara, White, Flanagan, and Angilikis set a Michigan A.A.U. Relays record of 3:23.2. At Michigan State, against top collegiate competition, the Ramblers won two of three events entered. Elsewhere, the trackmen routed North Central College and took the Midwest Invitational for the first time since 1953.

Spearheading the squad were Tom O'Hara, Henry White, and Tom Flanagan. O'Hara ran a 4:02.3 mile behind indoor mile record holder Jim Beatty at the National A.A.U., and at the Daily News Relays he cut his time to 4:01.6, the fastest indoor mile ever run by a sophomore. In addition, he won the C.C.C. mile and two of K. of C. miles.

White, leading scorer in Loyola track history, showed continued excellence in the quarter mile and broad jump, losing one jump by only $\frac{1}{4}$ " to Ralph Boston. Sophomore Jim Dwyer, and freshmen Pete Waldron, Jerry Drozd, Dick Dvorchak, and Stan Drab balanced the sprint team, while Dick Cochran, Doug Balan, Jim Mooney, Tom Matulis, and frosh Ed Russell and Pat Mitten rounded out the distance squad.

Due to strong veterans and developing freshmen, Coach Jerry Weiland's runners made a strong finish in their 1962 campaign.

AL WAGNER
Swimming Coach

SWIMMING

The Aqua-Ramblers finished their season with a mediocre record of eight wins and six losses. But this does not tell the entire story. Lacking both depth and experience, the finmen, under freshman coach Al Wagner, broke every existing school record except the 200 yard Backstroke. Some of these records had existed since 1954.

The Loyola swimmers achieved their best results in the Chicago Intercollegiate Championship when they won the title for the eighth time in 15 years, defeating their nearest opponent by 60 points. The only graduating seniors are captain Butch Blau and Dennis Spirek.

Captain elect, high point man, and the Most Valuable Swimmer for 1962 was junior Bill Bishop. Bill was the only swimmer to represent the university in the NCAA Championship in Columbus, Ohio.

Back next year, along with Bishop, are sophomore Andy Barry, freshman Ron Koehler, and freshman Bill Waltzoni each of whom own at least one school record. These three placed second, third and fourth in the scoring department.

Also returning next year will be freshman distance freestyler Ron Mokos, and sophomore backstrokers Ron Svoboda and Larry Kann.

Wagner, in his first year of coaching at Loyola, graduated from Loyola in 1955 when he was the team's Most Valuable Swimmer. With the swimmers that Wagner has assembled, 1962-'63 should be a most successful year.

LOYOLA SWIM TEAM

Loyola's bowling team with coach Charles Greenstein.

BOWLING

Rambler kegler shoots for a strike.

Under the guidance of Coach Charles Greenstein, the Loyola Bowling Team is making a determined bid for recognition on Loyola's sports scene, basing their ten-pin attack on the results of the 1960-61 season in the Midwest Inter-Collegiate bowling League.

Leaders in scoring for the bowlers this season were Joe Silliman, Jack Brown, Jack McGuire, and Jim Handy, who all splintered the pins for individual game averages of over 180. Also downing pins for the 1962 Ramblers were Ken Wolski, Frank Mancyko, and George Hill.

Coach Greenstein must be given much credit for the excellent job he has done with the bowling team in the past seasons. The team is not one of the biggest or most spectacular at Loyola, but it does its part in building the Loyola ideal of the whole man.

Ready for their spring session are several members of Loyola's intercollegiate golf team.

GOLF

The Loyola Golf team, under the direction of Coach John Stevens, posted one of their best seasons to date during last spring. Under the watchful eye of Coach Stevens, co-captains Rich Cahill and Bob Kane led the team through seven meets and one tournament.

From the first tee, shot against De Paul, until the final putt in the Illinois Collegiate Tournament, the linksmen faced staunch competition from Lewis College, the University of Illinois (Chicago), IIT, Roosevelt College, Northwestern, Southern Illinois and Notre Dame.

Fighting the battle of the links against such teams, LU was bolstered by Mike Hayes, Hohn Freeman, Bill O'Grady, and Mike Muddler. With an abundance of underclassman on the team, the outlook for the future is indeed hopeful.

INTRAMURAL FOOTBALL

The Lake Shore Campus Athletic Program took another step forward this year when a faculty intramural board was formed to oversee all IM activities and to hear protests. The board was composed of Mr. John Jozwiak, Dr. Herbert Abel, and Fr. Thomas Munson, S.J. The separate interfraternity council board elected as officers Kevin Martin, chairman, John Durkin, and Dave Raia. Also new to the program was a twenty-one page constitution governing all intramural activities, drawn up by Butch Blau, Senior Intramural Manager. Graham McClean was Junior Manager.

Football competition in both leagues was tough right down to the wire. The interfraternity league champion was decided when the undefeated Tekes and Alpha Delt met, Tekes bowing 12-0. Meanwhile, the unbeaten P.I.D.'s and Snogamos were squaring off for Northern League title. P.I.D. snuck by 2-0, earning the right to play the Southern League champ, the Dupes. Ending in a 0-0 tie, the game went to the P.I.D.'s after a four-play showdown. In the overall championship game, Pete Brusca led P.I.D. to a 12-0 victory over ADG. The consolation game saw the Dupes, under Pat Parrilli, down the Tekes 18-6. The first all-star game in Loyola history, pitting independent and fraternity stars, ended in an 18-0 GDI victory.

Members of Alpha Delta Gammo and Tau Koppo Epsilon are pitted against each other in the highlight contest of the fraternity football season.

Action takes place under the boards, as the teams go at it in intramural basketball competition.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

Basketball competition also proved keen in both leagues. The fraternity intramurals saw three teams bidding for stardom. In the contest between the undefeated Tau Delts and Alpha Delts, the latter came out on top. Against the favored Pi Alphas, they then came from behind to win 34-31. In the independent circuit, the unbeaten Dupes of the Southern League, fell to the Viatorians, also unblemished. To challenge the brothers, the Northern League sent the Northmen, who had beaten the Snogamos for their title. The will-conditioned Viatorians, however, eased by the Northmen 37-29. In the overall championship game, the sharpshooting Alpha Delts fell prey to Brother Talkin and crew, 37-32.

Of special interest was the new record set by Tau Delts Phi in their 98-35 drubbing of the Sigma Delts, a game in which Denny Potuznik also set an individual record with his 59 points.

Other sports included baseball, track, tennis, bowling, and golf, the latter two instituted this year.

The Lewis Towers Intramural Sports Program, under the direction of Jim Santo, Bob Staskiewicz, and Joe Tomaszewski, once again was centered in the Chicago Armory. LT IM's are set up a little differently than those at Lake Shore, in that the program is directed more to individual competition at the start of the year and more to team events in the second semester.

Full time arts and commerce students at LT, as well as all day students of the law school, were eligible to compete for a sweepstakes trophy, awarded to the man tallying the most points during the year's events. Smaller trophies were given for certain individual events.

First semester athletics included the football accuracy throw, won by Jim Santo in a field of 76 entrants, and the four-man rope climb, taken by a law school team. Pete Coleman was dart throwing champion, and Ziggy Farbotko capped the badminton trophy. Halloween Novelty Day saw John Van Bramer win the turkey trot. Other events were horseshoes, table tennis, and a chess and checkers tournament.

The main event in the second half of the program was a five-man basketball tournament, running from Feb. 12 to April 16. Seventeen independent and fraternity teams battled it out for four days a week. Also held were the annual field goal and free throw accuracy contests, the former won by Bob Mueller. Other attractions were volleyball, golf, putting, softball, a medicine ball relay race, and even poker and pinochle.

Players from opposing intramural basketball teams vie for the rebound.

Pictured to the left are the Viatorian Brothers who, after taking the independent basketball crown, defeated the Alpha Deltas in the intramural championship game, 37-32.

Alpha Delta Gamma held on to their monopoly in interfraternity athletic competition by winning the fraternity basketball title.

From the left, Dr. D. Herbert Abel, Dr. Jahn R. Joswiak, and Fr. Thomas N. Munson, are the members of the Intramural Board.

Girls from 1043 relax after contest in which they took the second place trophy for women's intramural volleyball.

The 1961-'62 Women's Intramural Program, managed by Pat Luetkemeyer and Mimi Duggan, got underway last September with a six week volleyball tournament. The Nursing Council, Stebler Hall, "1043," Alpha Tau Delta, and Chi Theta Upsilon bottled it out for the traveling trophy. Chi Theta and "1043" faced one another in the final match of the season, with the result that Chi Theta, coached and captained by Kay Keogh, carried off the prize. A basketball tournament highlighted the second semester.

This year must be marked as a milestone for the Women's Athletic Program. For the first time in Loyola's history, an all-star team has represented L.U. in matches with eleven colleges and universities in the Chicago area. At the "game day" held at the University of Illinois, Loyola took second place to DePaul University, whose team is composed of physical education majors.

Volleyball and basketball were not the only sports offered to Loyola's coeds. Tennis, table tennis, and swimming added to the program to make this year's season more successful and popular than those gone by.

Chi Theta Upsilon, women's intramural volleyball champions, smile after rugged title game.

Mid-year doubts notwithstanding, the annual Loyolan is completed. There will be no more 2 A.M. deadlines, no more cussing at the coke machine when it would only take nickels instead of our quarters, and no more anguish over missed pictures. This final page of copy is our opportunity to make a few necessary comments on the product of a year's work.

Undoubtedly there are errors in the book; to the victims of our fallibility, we apologize. However, the fact that the Loyolan will appear on schedule and for whatever merit the yearbook has, credit goes to the hardworking staff. It would be impossible to thank everyone by name who has contributed to this year's edition, but the following deserve special commendation for their efforts:

Mr. Bernard W. Cullen, our moderator, who supervised the artistic phases of the book shared many midnight hours with the staff. A quiet, but thoughtful individual, Mr. Cullen always had a suggestion when consulted about any dilemma, and his patience (which we certainly tried) belies the term "artistic temperament."

Our photographers—Rev. Thomas J. Bryant, S.J., whose interest is great and without whom the yearbook would be impossible; Rev. Robert Kopek, S.J. (West Baden); Steve O'Shaughnessy, Jim Kilcoyne, James O'Brien, Don Smith, and Frank Sulito.

Coleman Connolly, who scheduled all the pictures largely by persuading, hounding, and bullying the various organizations and by being persuaded, hounded (by us), and bullied in return.

Frank Augustyn, who somehow managed to have the requisite copy for each deadline as well as being a pleasant working companion and pizza-eater.

Joe O'Callaghan, who charmed girls (even from Mundelein) into typing, as well as performing some remarkable feats of picture identification, and Ken Feit, also a pizza-eater, who produced some very incisive captions.

Alice Farrell and Lori Glatt, connoisseurs of senior activities, whose efficiency and accuracy made the preparation of the Graduates the easiest editing task of the entire Loyolan.

Jim Schneider, who organized and coordinated the sports section most ably.

Our professionals—Bill O'Connor from Hunter Publishing, who worked many evenings with the staff; James Moorman, Jr., our artist; Ray Jordan, who did the layout; Austen Field plus Marshall Studios, who took senior portraits.

The administration, especially Richard Barry and Dean McCloskey, who provided pictures and advice.

To those mentioned above and below, and to all who gave us cooperation and encouragement, we offer a humble but grateful "thank you."
